STRANGE ACCIDENT ON SHIP IS PROBED
SAN PEDRO, Calif., May 21.—(UP)—A naval court of inquiry today investigated a strange accident aboard the United States battleship West Virginia, which "shot herself" during spotting practice at sea Wednesday night.
A star shell from one of her forward starboard five-inch guns struck the right gun of her No. 2 16-inch main battery turret, tearing out a large piece of steel and rendering it useless.
The steel ricocheted off to starboard, striking harmlessly in the sea. No one was injured.
The West Virginia was expected to be ordered to the Puget Sound navy yard for replacement of the gun, the rifled inner lining of which was sprung inward near the muzzle.

Charges Nine Millions Made In Stock Deal

H. M. WARNER QUESTIONED BY SENATORS

Committee Counsel Charges Movie Magnate Cleaned Up on His Own Stock

DUMMY NAMES USED

Warner Explains That Brothers Associated With Him in Stock Trading

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(UP)—

Charges of "under cover stock operations" in his own corporation, accompanied by newspaper propaganda designed to aid in manipulation of the market, were made today against Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers Incorporated before the Senate Banking and Currency committee.

William A. Gray, committee counsel, made the charge. Warner had been sworn as the day's first witness and had testified that stocks of the corporation had been increased from 550,000 shares to 7,500,000 three years after the organization's incorporation in 1925.

Gray said he had been instructed by officers of the corporation to investigate the selling of their own stock.

Mr. Warner sold his own stock while the newspapers were boosting it and then when the stocks went down he bought it back to make a profit of $9,251,454.50, Gray added.

The alleged transactions were said to have taken place in 1930.

Seeking to develop this theme, Gray brought out from the witness that January 1, 1930, he and his brothers, Albert and J. L. Warner owned 303,484 shares of no par stock of Warner Brothers.

Warner explained that he and his brothers acted as one individual and did not attempt to divide ownership of their interest.

They did not control the destiny of the company alone, he said, management and control being in the hands of a board of directors amicable to the three movie pioneers and whose appointment they directed.

Under questioning by Senator Couzens, Rep., Michigan, it was brought out that the Warners controlled their concern through holding only 10 per cent of its stocks.

Warner testified that in 1930 he and his brothers traded with Samuel Ungerleider and Co., Schatokin

CURTIS PLANS REPUDIATION OF PART OF HIS CONFESSION

Counsel Is Engaged To Defend Him

Believed Possible Norfolk Man May Claim Confession Was Forced

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 21.—(UP)—

John Hughes Curtis' fight to prevent prosecution for his cruel Lindbergh hoax began today with indications of a court battle that may bring repudiation of parts of his "confession" of that hoax.

The court fight was forecast by retention of an attorney to represent the Norfolk flier—the first legal move on his behalf since state police announced his negotiations "were a figment of his imagination."

Early stages of that fight will be directed by W. C. Pender, a prominent Norfolk attorney retained by relatives and friends of the boat builder, now residing in jail at Flemington. Curtis is held on a misdemeanor charge subjecting him to three years in jail and a $1000 fine.

Pender left Norfolk last night. Curtis professed to know nothing of his retention. Pender was expected to obtain Curtis' release on $10,000 bail.

A court fight to free Curtis, it was believed, would be based on proof that he was not guilty of giving false information or hindering the hunt for a murder or kidnapping suspect. Or it would be based on extenuating circumstances.

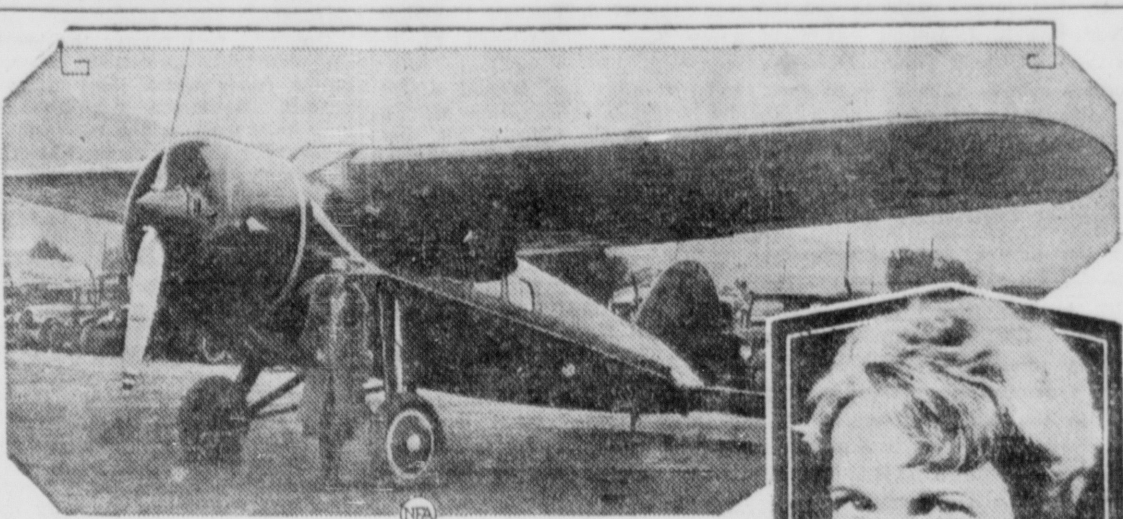

Curtis might claim the confession was forced by state police. He might claim his early activity was forced by Norfolk rum-runners with whom he is known to have associated as a speed boat builder.

It might be claimed for him that early negotiations were legitimate as far as Curtis was concerned; that later he learned he was dealing with fakers; that the

AMELIA PUTS PLANE DOWN IN IRELAND

American Flier Forced to Land When Gas Gauge Springs Severe Leak

HAZARDOUS JOURNEY

Mrs. Putnam Flies for Ten Hours With Manifold Exhaust Burned Out

LONDON, May 21.—(UP)—

Amelia Earhart Putnam today became the first of her sex to make a solo flight of the Atlantic when she put her red monoplane down in a pasture near Londonderry, Ireland, after an adventurous flight from Harbor Grace, N. F.

By telephone from Londonderry, a city on the northern tip of Ireland and about 50 miles from the coast line, she said:

"I had to land in a pasture outside of Londonderry. I am not hurt and I think the plane is all right."

She revealed the hazards of the long transatlantic venture which she had come through, five years to the day after Col. Charles A. Lindbergh completed his successful flight to Paris.

For about 10 hours she flew with the exhaust manifold of her engine burned out, she said. Added to her dangers were rain and a little fog.

As the red monoplane roared out of the storm over Ireland, she noticed that her gasoline gauge was broken, "probably having been shattered by the storm through which I had flown. There was beginning to be a gasoline leakage and I decided to land," she said.

Almost nonchalantly yesterday she received the news at Harbor Grace, N. F., that weather forecasts were propitious for the attempt. She motored from a hotel to the long 2000 feet runway at the Newfound-land city, gave a terse statement of her plans, climbed into the red Lockheed monoplane, waved a farewell and was away.

She had been especially anxious

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 21. (To the Editor of The Register): Congress is human for the first time in years. They are broke, just like everybody else, and are running around in a circle trying to pay what they owe. They got an eight-billion-dollar first plaster on the country, and now they are peeped trying to get a second mortgage. They will eventually find out they are just like other folks, they will have to cut down. No taxpayer is going to make 'em a loan if they are going to keep as much help as they always have.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

CONGRESSMAN FOR 25 YEARS LOSING
PORTLAND, Ore., May 21.—(UP)—On the basis of unofficial returns early today from 485 of Oregon's 1783 precincts, it appeared that Willis C. Hawley, chairman of the ways and means committee of the house of representatives and a congressman for 25 years, would lose the Republican nomination to James W. Mott, militant corporation commissioner.
Mott had 3643 votes to 3375 for Hawley.
The presidential race lacked interest, despite the fact that Franklin D. Roosevelt was sweeping the state. He had a four-to-one lead over Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma. Ten convention delegates are favorable to Roosevelt.
Ex-Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, the only Republican presidential candidate to appear on the ballot, held a 1 1/2 to 1 lead over President Hoover, but 13 delegates to the national convention were expected to vote for the president.

DIRIGIBLE AKRON BACK AT HER BASE
SUNNYVALE, Calif., May 21.—(UP)—The Akron, huge naval dirigible, swung idly at her mooring mast here today, as her crew groomed her for a proposed flight along the Pacific coast May 23 to visit northwestern cities.
She returned to her base Friday night after a trip with newspapermen over Sacramento valley inland towns and a display of war maneuvers near San Mateo. She released and picked up her escort of fighting planes during the display.

Two Unmasked Bandits Rob Newport Store Of $150

LOOT CASH TILL, ESCAPE AFTER BINDING OWNER

Two unmasked bandits robbed A. H. Fitzpatrick in his dry goods store at 2015 1/2 Ocean front in Newport Beach at 8:30 o'clock last night of $150 in cash, a gold watch and $88 in checks, discarding the watch and checks as they fled down an alley.

One of the bandits covered Fitzpatrick while his companion tied the store owner's legs and arms with neckties, a suit of underwear being placed over his head. The men then looted the cash registers and left by the rear door. Bandit No. 1 was described as weighing about 145 pounds, five feet, eight inches in height, 35 years old, an American, and wearing a dark suit and cap. Bandit No. 2 was about five feet, 10 inches tall, 155 pounds, 28 years old, an American, stooped shouldered and wearing dark trousers, sweater and felt hat.

Police Officers Ray Shannon and George W. Callahan, who are investigating the case, believe that the men were old hands at the hold-up game.

According to Fitzpatrick, the men were in his store Thursday and purchased a shirt, stating that they would return with the money Friday evening. One of the men placed his hand in his pocket, but instead of money for the shirt, he pulled out a gun.

Arrest Japanese On Check Charge

Charged with issuing fictitious checks, John Amanoto, 35, Santa Ana Japanese, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Earl Nickles yesterday afternoon and lodged in the county jail.

Amanoto is charged with issuing a $40 check to J. Shee, service station operator at Seventeenth street and the Verano road.

Man Fined $30 On Charge of Battery

O. B. Harrison, 37, charged with battery, was sentenced to serve 15 days in the county jail or pay a fine of $30 in the Santa Ana police court today. The complaining witness in the case was R. E. Conaway, of 605 East Second street.

BALBOA MAN WINS CUSTODY OF CHILD

Henry R. Greeley, of Balboa, yesterday was awarded custody of his daughter Marjorie Jean by Superior Judge H. G. Allen. The case was brought into superior court by the girl's mother, Mrs. Ruth Greeley Weston, who was divorced from Greeley several years ago.

She had her former husband cited into court on an order to show cause why the daughter should not be allowed to choose her future guardian. Greeley opposed the action on the grounds that the girl probably would select her mother, and that the mother was not a proper person to have custody of the 17-year-old girl.

According to the court order custody of the girl was transferred from Mary Mathison Willis, of Culver City, sister of the former Mrs. Greeley, to the father.

BROTHERHOOD IS STRESSED BY EVANGELIST

Another large audience greeted Evangelist E. J. Bulgin last night at the Paul Radner Tabernacle. Some service was held by a large choir led by Mr. and Mrs. James P. Campbell, of Hollywood. Grant Sinclair, of Oklahoma, sang a solo.

Declaring that all men under the claims of Christianity are brothers, no matter what their color, and stressing the necessity for faith in this life, the Rev. Mr. Bulgin delivered another of his stirring sermons.

"A drunkard can get drunk and steal a thousand dollars and the papers next day don't come out with big headlines saying he is an infidel," he said. "But, if Bulgin would do it, or a deacon of a Baptist church, it would surely be all over the front pages that it was done by a church man."

Why? Because the world and the devil expect something of a man who is a Christian. "It doesn't require any moral character, and mighty little brains, to be an infidel. Infidelity and atheism is destruction. Let the man who says there is no God prove there is none, and he will have a bigger job than I have in proving there is one."

E. E. Peck, secretary of the Unemployment association of Santa Ana, was introduced from the stage, receiving a round of applause from the audience. He thanked the audience and the Rev. Bulgin for the donations at a recent service and asked the support of all for the play, the "Speeders," which will be presented in the high school auditorium next Wednesday night by the Little Theaters Guild of Orange county as a benefit for the association.

BRIDGE ATTACK TO BE MADE BY ARMY PLANES

Eddie Martin's Airport will be the base of operations for two flights of army aviation reserve planes tomorrow when the railroad bridge one half mile west of Prado will be destroyed—theoretically—by bombs.

According to word received at the airport two flights of planes from the 47th Pursuit Squadron, Army Reserve, stationed at the Municipal Airport in Long Beach will arrive at the Martin Airport and await orders which will be dropped on the runway for them by the third flight which will lead the attack.

The flights to take part in the attack have been designated as Flights A, B, and C. Flight A will go by way of Los Angeles, Cucamonga and Highgrove to the bridge at Prado, where the first bombs will be dropped.

Flight B is scheduled to arrive at the Eddie Martin Airport at 2:01 p. m. where it will receive orders and then head for the Prado bridge to observe the effects of bombing and attack raids on the bridge. This group will be followed by Flight C, taking off from the Martin Airport at 2:03 p. m. This flight is scheduled to attack a theoretical concentration of ground troops at the bridge and after completing its detail will fly to Olive to join the other two flights at 2:44 and make the return to the home airport in formation. The entire group will return to Long Beach, flying across Orange county.

HARRY WARNER IS QUESTIONED BY COMMITTEE

and Company, Goldman Sachs and Co., Ira Haupt and Co., and Ernest and Co., all members of the stock exchange.

Warner explained that in all transactions involving the stocks of their own company the brothers used dummy names. They used their own names only in other stocks, he said.

Samuel Schneider, described as Warner's "right hand man," assisted him on the stand. He named half a dozen brokerage houses through which the stock deals had been made.

Trading was through several accounts under the name of Moe Rosenberg, Harry Charnas, Harry Warner, Albert Warner, and Louis Warner.

Schneider said the "principal trading" was through the apparently dummy names of Rosenberg and Charnas.

Gray also had listed an account known merely as "No. 72."

Under Gray's questioning Warner testified that he had sold 137,950 shares of his own company's stocks, none of which was bought back at that time.

The selling was through Schatzkin and Company, and was for two purposes, Warner said.

One was to diversify the brothers' own holdings and the other to obtain funds which the company needed. The latter practice had long been used by the movie magnates to tide over their concern's temporary needs, he said.

"Did you not in January, 1930, sell 55,000 shares and buy back 7,800 shares?" Gray asked.

Gray said the numerous accounts were to "prevent the public from knowing what you were doing."

Schneider said it was to prevent knowledge from reaching the brokers.

Reading from brokerage book records, Gray showed transactions in thousands of shares of Warner stock.

"Why did you sell, Gray asked. "Well we want to diversify our holdings," Warner replied. "And the company was needing money."

PROBLEMS OF GOLD STANDARD ARE DISCUSSED

"The Gold Standard," as it existed in the past and as it now exists in the various countries of the world, was the subject of a talk by Loyal K. King to members of the League of Women Voters at a meeting held in the Y. W. C. A. rooms yesterday afternoon.

The business session of the League, conducted by Mrs. Carl Mock, president, in the absence of the recently elected president, Mrs. J. D. Campbell, was devoted chiefly to plans for attending the state convention in Los Angeles on May 31 and June 1. Delegates appointed to represent the Santa Ana organization were Mrs. A. J. Knight, Mrs. C. H. Stanley, and Mrs. David D. Field, while alternates elected were Mrs. Virgil Clem, Mrs. A. Lagassee and Mrs. Ernest C. Wilson.

Raising the question of whether or not we are on the gold standard and what is meant by "being on the gold standard," the speaker declared that thousands of people have not seen or used a piece of gold in the transaction of their business for many years. In place of gold, checks and paper money is used, he said.

Credits and Gold
"Bank credit which we so freely used in 1929 to do our business with, exceeded $500 per capita, while the total of gold in the United States, some of it held here for the credit of other countries, never exceeded $45 per capita," he declared.

"In addition to bank credit there was outstanding our paper money. "It is easy to see that the things, or shall we say the credit, that we used in place of gold, conservatively exceeded our gold by the ratio of fifteen to one. The average man thinks that he can get gold whenever he wants it; and he can, provided a lot of other people don't want it at the same time. We regularly use substitutes, we call it credit, and when the credit system without which modern business can not be carried on, breaks down, we have a panic.

"The question today is how should we go about restoring the credit of the country. The Federal Reserve Bank has for the past five weeks been buying a hundred million of United States Government bonds and been paying for them by printing and issuing of paper money."

Credit System Vital
"The price of the pound sterling has gone up in terms of our money during the last several weeks, and money is being sent daily to France. Evidently Europe thinks we are inflationists. Little bit, some Americans think the same way, others deny it, all hope that it will work and take us out of the present slump regardless of what it is."

"Our unemployment in the United States amounts to 33 per cent of all people gainfully employed in the year 1929. England's unemployment with every man accounted for amounts to only 28 per cent. The problem of how to restore the credit system to its proper place in the business world is the problem that must be solved and upon it hinges our prosperity and mutual welfare."

WOMAN FLIER MAKES OCEAN FLIGHT ALONE

to go yesterday. It was just five years to the day from the time that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh then a comparatively unknown, had sent his Ryan monoplane away from Roosevelt field for a 33 1-2 hour flight to Paris.

From the moment the red monoplane of Mrs. Putnam cleared the waters off Newfoundland, there was no report of the adventurous woman flier. She has told friends they would hear from her in 18 hours.

Through the night her plane roared steadily onward, completely out of vision of the many steamers dotting the great circle route which she had planned to fly. Before leaving she had warned this might be true, as she planned to go to an altitude of 8,000 feet to make flying safer.

It was 5:50 p. m. (E.D.T.) Friday when Miss Earhart calmly stepped into the closed cockpit of her red Lockheed monoplane, waved a farewell to a few people and roared away from Harbor Grace, N. F. Weather reports were favorable but as night lowered over the Atlantic, rain, fog and storms came into the path of the adventuresome flier.

The exhaust manifold of her craft burned out. The gasoline gauge broke — probably by the force of the storm. The tempest battered her craft. No vessel along the great circle route sighted her. But in her enclosed cabin, she nursed her plane along, peering forward for the first sight of land.

For ten hours she fought the elements, which had meant death to so many other men and women fliers. Finally this afternoon she noted her gasoline was beginning to leak out through the broken gauge.

It meant the end of the flight. But by that time she had courageously driven her craft away from the danger of a mid-ocean landing and settled down on a field at Culmore, near Londonderry on the northern tip of Ireland.

It was close by the spot where the first transatlantic flight—that of Alcock and Brown, British fliers—had ended.

When Miss Earhart landed on the Culmore field the first man to greet her was the owner of the field who was amazed at seeing the great red plane come roaring down and then to see the tall American woman—looking a little like Col. Lindbergh—garbed in regular flying costume, step from the craft. They hailed a passing motorist who brought her to Londonderry where she might send cablegrams to her friends.

She was asked as to her immediate future.

"I think I may go to London but I have only my flying suit with me and not much money," she explained. It was recalled she took with her only her leather flying jacket and other flying clothing when she sailed out of Harbor Grace.

She explained she was going to make a trans-Atlantic telephone call to her husband, George Palmer Putnam, in New York and ask him what she should do. It was understood she would go to London tonight.

Miss Earhart said that despite "both the engine and weather difficulties I knew I would be able to land safely."

After sending her cablegrams at the Londonderry post office she requested to be taken to the field near Culmore so she could examine her airplane and determine whether it should be flown immediately. She had hoped to continue on to Paris and thence to Rome where there is a meeting of the fliers who had crossed the Atlantic by air successfully.

After inspecting the plane Miss Earhart returned to Londonderry and went to the "Elms," home of Mrs. McClure. She complained of deafness as result of the motor roar.

DO-X is On Way
ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 21.—(UP)—The flying boat DO-X was en route to the Azores today on the first leg of a trans Atlantic flight to Lake Constance, Switzerland.

The ship left Holyrood Bay at 3 a. m. EST. The commander was not certain before the start that he would land at Harbor Grace and resume the Atlantic crossing from there. Later he headed the world's largest heavier-than-air craft over the Atlantic for the Azores.

DOG ATTACKS CHILD. MOTHER AT TALBERT

Believed suffering from rabies, a pet dog attacked three-year-old Francisca Gonzales and her mother, Mrs. C. Gonzales, at the family home at Talbert yesterday.

The animal had been absent for several days and when he returned the little girl, overjoyed that her playmate was back, commenced playing with him. The animal, snarling and growling, seized Francisca by the shoulder.

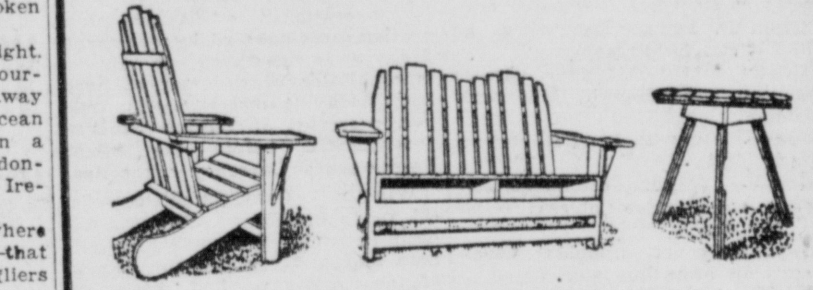

Mrs. Gonzales rushed to Francisca's return and the animal turned on her, seizing her by the hair and dragging her for several feet before she could fight loose.

Mother and child were treated at the office of Dr. F. L. Whittaker in Huntington Beach. The county health department is conducting a search for the canine, which disappeared following the attack.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

Just a few days ago you were living in a land which was beautiful to you. The flowers bloomed, everybody seemed happy and your heart sang.

Your dear one went away and everything was changed. You call, but not one answers. The world seems devoid of loveliness and the wilderness, which surrounds you, grows more vast and unfeeling as the hours drag by.

You are not the first person whose heart has been devastated by grief; what have others found?

They have learned that all other men can give is sympathy and the presentation of their own convictions. Those who have received comfort and strength to go on, have found it in communion with God. He alone can give you power to take up your burdens and to carry them courageously and well, with the sure confidence that your dear one lives and that you will be together again.

Learn from the experience of others and reach out for God.

SUSPECTS HELD IN JAIL; TWO ADMIT GUILT

The roundup of four suspects yesterday, one here, one in Tustin and two in San Diego, is believed by police to have cleared up at least four burglaries in Santa Ana recently, possibly two others here, and the burglary of a hardware store in Tustin, according to a statement made today by F. W. Howard, chief of police, who went to San Diego yesterday to return two of the men.

The men arrested are: Hubert S. Rambau, 20, of 111 Stanford street, Garden Grove; Sherman D. Mashburn, 18, of 520 North Birch street, Santa Ana; Floyd C. Hoots, 20, 1007 Custer street, Santa Ana, and Annas Newcomb, 19, of Tustin. Rambau and Mashburn were arrested in San Diego. Santa Ana police arrested Hoots here and Chief John Stanton, of Tustin, arrested Newcomb. All are in the county jail, facing burglary charges.

Find Guns

The arrest of the quartet came about due to cooperation between the Santa Ana police department and the sheriff's office at San Diego. Jack Tillery, deputy sheriff of San Diego county, arrested Rambau and Mashburn near San Diego, taking them in on suspicion of being the burglars. In the back of their car a number of guns and ammunition were found. The car bore a Garden Grove registration and Chief of Police Howard was called on the case, after one of the men is said to have admitted that the two, together with Hoots and Newcomb, had burglarized a hardware store in Santa Ana. Howard made an investigation and found out that the hardware store mentioned was the Tustin Hardware company at Tustin, on the night of May 7, at which time 10 rifles and ammunition and other articles worth several hundreds of dollars, were stolen.

John Stanton, chief of police at Tustin, was then brought into the case, which brought about the arrest of Newcomb. On further information obtained from the San Diego police, Hoots was implicated and arrested here.

Admit Guilt

According to Chief of Police Howard, the men have admitted and burglarized a hardware store in the burglary of the L. H. East Fourth street, stealing quantities of cigarettes, cigars, candy and tobacco, on April 17 and again on April 29. Entrance both times was made through the front doors after glass panes had been broken out. This is the same manner in which the Tustin Hardware store was entered.

The men also have admitted, it was reported, that they broke into the grocery store of A. U. Hiett, at 602 Fruit street, on the night of May 6. A number of cartons of cigarettes and tobacco were stolen on that night.

A number of tools reported stolen in the burglary of the L. H. Cain service station at Fifth and Artesia streets, have been recovered, leading officers to believe that the same "gang" staged this burglary. That place was robbed on the night of May 7.

Police Investigating

Police also are investigating the burglaries of the Bap Grocery store at Washington and Main streets, at which time cigarettes were stolen, believing that the same four men are responsible, they said, together with the burglaries of other grocery stores in Santa Ana this year, where the modus operandi was the same.

Chief of Police Howard announced today that a number of articles, believed to have been part of the loot taken from the stores here was recovered last night by Santa Ana police at the home of Emma McCordia, 2333 West Sixth street. Mrs. McCordia was arrested several days ago on a charge of possession of liquor and is now free on bail on that charge.

Howard said the loot had not as yet been identified, however, as being the same which was taken by the four men.

2000 CHILDREN ON EXCURSION TO OLD MISSION

One thousand Santa Ana school children left early this morning as passengers on three special, chartered Southern Pacific trains on an educational trip to Santa Barbara. A total of 2000 persons, including many from other cities in the county are making the trip on the three trains, each of which carried 15 cars. There were 350 adults included in the group, according to E. B. Sharpley, traveling passenger agent who made arrangements for the trip with the co-operation of the city P-T A.

More than 60 per cent of the children in grammar schools had never taken a trip on a train, in fact, had never been on a train, according to officials. The trains left Santa Ana at 7 o'clock this morning for Santa Barbara. The other passengers were to be picked up en route.

The excursion trains were due to arrive in Santa Barbara around noon today and are scheduled back in Santa Ana at 7:30 p. m. The famous old mission at Santa Barbara was expected to prove of especial interest to the students.

The Santa Ana city P-T A. operated a commissary on the trains to insure the children proper food at reasonable prices and profits will be used for relief work among needy children of the city.

REAL ESTATE BOOM SEEN BY SPEAKER

Ransom corporation, trust agents, whereby they will shortly announce a gigantic sales program on Babbitt Syndicate and Whittier Triangle properties, and will also sell Repetto Park, Bicknell Park and Tri-City Park. The properties are located in East Los Angeles.

Heading the new sales corporation will be C. M. Hamilton, formerly director of sales for the J. B. Ransom Corporation, who is president and general manager.

The active direction of the trust properties will remain in the Ransom corporation.

Man Arrested After 3 Year Delay

After more than three years, Jack Newmark, Los Angeles man, wanted here on a speeding charge, has been arrested.

The warrant for his arrest was issued by Judge J. F. Talbott, then city judge, and was dated February 20, 1929. The warrant was sent to Los Angeles, and yesterday Los Angeles police made the arrest.

A check for $25, bail, was received by the police department for Newmark, who is due to appear here the first of the week. He was given a ticket originally by Motorcycle Officer B. A. Hershey.

ONE KILLED, 4 HURT IN NOON AUTO ACCIDENT

One man was killed, making the total in the county for the year '32, another is believed to be dying and a little boy and two girls were hurt at 11:40 a. m. today when two cars collided at the intersection of East Seventeenth and Wright streets.

The dead man was Tom Sur, 30, a Korean, who resided at Stanton. In the car with him at the time was A. Lee, 45, also of Stanton, and a Korean youth, three years old. The latter two were hurt, Lee suffering severe injuries about the head and shoulders. He is in St. Joseph's hospital, where physicians are working on him this afternoon.

Two girls were in the other car. It was reported, the girls leaving the scene of the accident before their names were obtained, although it was said that a state traffic officer allowed them to go after obtaining the information he desired. Both were hurt and both were taken in private cars to their homes.

RAIN SEASON CLOSES WITH GOOD MARGIN OVER AVERAGE

Traces of rain which were reported to have fallen in various sections of Orange county last night were interpreted today by local weather prophets as the last attempt of Jupiter Pluvius to make the total rainfall in the county this year greater than for many years previous.

While traces of rain were reported to have fallen early this morning in Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton, Garden Grove, Placentia and Laguna Beach, not enough rain fell in any vicinity in the county to register on a rain gauge. No other communities reported any precipitation.

The rainy season in Orange county is generally conceded to end around May 20, although rain has fallen during every month of the year, according to Albert Hill, of Hill and Sons, where the rainfall records have been kept in Santa Ana. Any rain that falls in amounts large enough to be measured after May 20 are considered on the new season's rainfall.

With a total of 15.33 inches of rain for the season, Santa Ana had sufficient rainfall during the past season to surpass the average rainfall for this vicinity. The average rainfall for this section, over a period of the last 23 years, is 12.49 inches. Last year the total was 11.42 inches and the previous year 11.85. The least rain fell in the 1922-23 season when 7.58 inches was recorded. The heaviest rainfall of recent years, was in 1914-15 when an even 20 inches fell. The last rain of the 1931-32 season was on April 26.

POLICE ORDER GAMBLING ON GAMES STOPPED

Following complaints received by the police department concerning certain punch board and pin-marble games, being operated in Santa Ana, the Santa Ana police, through F. W. Howard, chief, reported today that strict regulation of the games had been ordered.

At the same time Clyde Downing, city attorney, cooperating with the police department made a statement to the effect that certain punch boards had been ordered removed and that all forms of petty gambling had been ordered discontinued on the pin-marble games.

Police officers have visited every place in the city where the marble games or the punch boards are located and told proprietors that continued operation of unlawful boards would cause arrest and that gambling on the marble games would not be tolerated.

Several merchants were found who had offered weekly and semi-weekly prizes for high scores on the pin-marble games. This was termed as a form of gambling and was ordered discontinued.

A decision was handed down several days ago by a Los Angeles municipal judge, Clement D. Nye, who convicted Edgar S. Morris, of 4700 South Hoover street, on a charge of possession of one of the devices, and fined him $30.

Slide bets on scores, in the opinion of Chief of Police Howard, has to be construed as gambling, and proprietors of places where the tables are installed were advised, Chief Howard said today, that they will be held responsible for gambling in this connection.

Architects have discovered at last the means by which all homes can be made fire-proof without extra expense to the builders.

WHERE IS THE SCREEN VAMP NOW?

She's the leading lady. So twisted have the film formulas become nowadays that the old-time vampire has been discarded because the leading woman is called upon to do the dirty work.

NEW TRICK FOR HOME-OWNERS

A way of actually increasing the loan value of home property by the expenditure of a couple of dollars has been devised and is being disclosed in a great campaign to beautify and improve the city for the Olympic games.

Murder Play Presented By Senior Class Students

22 TAKE PART IN PRODUCTION FRIDAY NIGHT

ORANGE, May 21.—Typical radio broadcasts, incidents leading up to an attempted murder, followed by a murder and finally its solution—all were presented last night from the radio studio of W. P. H. by 22 students of Orange Union High school who took part in the senior class play, "Remote Control." F. L. Carrier directed.

All three acts took place in the studio setting, with leading roles being taken by Martha Husecroft, as Helen Wright, and Kenneth Stowell, as Walter Brokenchild. Both gave finished portrayals, falling naturally into their parts as the studio secretary and the "world's greatest radio announcer."

George Richardson played the role of Ralph Shugart, the control engineer, whose snappy lines contributed a balancing humor to the play. Raymond McCall succeeded in providing a mysterious atmosphere for his role of Dr. A. P. Workman, the supposed spiritualist. Throughout, he remained the suave character who was responsible for much of the entanglement, which later resulted in his own murder.

Much color was provided by the group of girls who took the parts of the wealthy society girls, who broadcasted bits from their charity program over the radio station. Virginia Lee Harper, Catherine Rowlands, Kathryn Fernie Summer, Juanita Ferree, Elizabeth Crawford and Emma Wetlin were on the stage at this time. While in the station they were robbed of their jewels. The theft finally is traced to the "ghost" gang, in whose movements the doctor has taken active part in directing by radio. Clarence Compton was convincing as Sergeant Devine, who was so eager to solve the mystery that he accused various characters on less than circumstantial evidence.

Other players responsible for the success of the production were Eleanor Flintham, Raymond Z. St. Clair, James Krueger, George Curtis, George Bonecutter, Jess Stanfield, Neil Miles, Harold Peterson, Harold Post, Duane Armstrong and Thomas Flippin.

Music during the evening was provided by the high school orchestra, with Percy Green directing. Numbers were selection from "Sweethearts," Herbert; Polonaise

The Whittier and Puente districts are due for lighter crops than Orange county, Smiley said.

ELECT SANTA ANA VETERANS AT VET CONVENTIONS TALK BY BANKER

Speaking last night over radio KREG, A. J. Cruickshank, president of the First National bank of Santa Ana, discussed "The School from the Viewpoint of a Businessman," in which opposition to the tenure law was expressed.

He was the speaker on a program sponsored by the Elementary Principals' and Teachers' association of Orange county and directed last night by the Brea school.

In his talk he said: "Because the child is the most precious thing in our homes, his training becomes most important, and so education has become one of the greatest problems of American institutions. The American family has encouraged the growth and development of our schools, without thought of cost. Because of the hunger for knowledge and the unshakable faith of the people in the belief that our schools can give this knowledge, the school authorities have been given almost unlimited power. The natural consequence of this has led to certain extremes.

"The unnecessary duplication of administrative units in our California system is subject for thought. To the person unacquainted with the many details of school administration, it appears that we have too many school districts, too many school boards, too many school administrative heads, and an overlapping of duties and responsibilities, all of which give cause for confusion and additional costs.

"Teachers' Tenure Law. Several measures have passed our legislature and have become laws, and other measures are being fostered, all having to do with the position and tenure of the teacher almost impregnable. We wish to protect the teacher in every way and realize what he or she has sacrificed in obtaining the necessary education to become a teacher or an administrator. However, this type of legislation is Class Legislation and has as many evils as it has qualities for good. I am opposed to the teachers' tenure law. The good teacher does not need it and the poor one should not be protected. I believe a teacher should be paid according to his worth, according to a fixed salary schedule regardless of merit, and if he becomes inefficient should be discharged, just as he would be from any other business.

"The over-emphasis by secondary and college institutions of the idea that education is the sure and unfailing path to wealth, glory and position, is another subject for thought. If our schools teach us how to live, how to be successful in business, our community and our nation, they have not failed whether wealth, position and glory follow or not.

"Measure of Education. We know that education cannot be measured by the amount of money spent for it. It can be measured only by the resultant character and accomplishments of the recipients of the education.

"There is no person who does not believe and know that our educational system in California is one of which we should be proud, that with all of its weaknesses, it is worthy of the unqualified support of every individual. Because of this feeling of the American people toward our school system, it becomes all the more necessary for us to watch closely that abuses do not grow to proportions beyond control.

"Because the American home has had this unbounded faith in our schools, it has allowed the schools to assume the most important function of child training; namely, character building. But the American home and society insists that in assuming this function, the school must have only the BEST type of teacher, only the BEST qualified administrators—that graft, greed, political inefficiency and class legislation be eliminated from the system."

On Monday at 12:30 p. m., Sir Thomas Horder, physician to the Prince of Wales, will be heard in a talk over the Columbia network which will be released by KHL.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JACOB, ESAU RECONCILED

Text: Gen. 33:1-11

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 22.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of The Congregationalist

The reconciliation of Jacob and

Esau came late, but it was very effective when it came. Probably it was made possible by the fact that both men had grown in wisdom and also in moral outlook and character since the day when slack-ness in the one man and duplicity in the other had brought tragic separation between the brothers.

On the whole, the story of the reconciliation is more creditable to

Esau than to Jacob, and it does much to restore the balance in one's estimate of the character of the man who sold his birthright.

Esau was the aggrieved party; the concessions were almost entirely on his side. Jacob approached their meeting with fear

—a fear that was born of a guilty conscience. He knew that he had wronged his brother and his common sense led him to expect a

"warm" reception.

However, Jacob had largely outgrown his selfishness and his trickery. Responsibility had sobbered him, and it was to his credit that he was evidently more concerned for the safety of the women and children than for himself.

At any rate, he protected them and went forward himself to meet the risk and the possible wrath of his brother.

He bowed himself to the ground

seven times in token of his humility, and perhaps as an acknowledgment of his repentance.

Esau played a brother's part.

There were no reproaches. There was no unholy recollection to mar

the complete magnanimity of his action. He ran to meet Jacob, embracing him and kissing him, while the two men wept, and then as

Esau lifted up his eyes and saw the great company with Jacob he was moved further. The things that Jacob had brought to win his favor he refused to accept, pleading that he had enough and offering rather a present on his own behalf.

It is a delightful interlude, or climax, in the history of the two brothers. The narrative lights up the whole drama like sunlight pouring through the clouds on a dark and troubled day.

The man of aggressive, selfish ambition may become a strong and noble character when he is purged from his meanness and duplicity;

and on the other hand a man who

ADVENTURES IN AFRICA TO BE TOLD AT CHURCH

Dr. Daniel Davenport, M.D., Ph.D., F.Z.S., who has recently returned from conducting a survey of the dreaded sleeping sickness in Africa in which he successfully coped with the disease which is caused by the tsetse fly, will present a travelogue of extraordinary adventure at the First Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night.

For more than five years Dr. Davenport was in the densest section of the African jungles surrounded by hostile cannibal tribes. He has some remarkable experiences with these savages to describe in the lecture to be given here.

The African pigmy and the gorilla are doomed to extinction unless some measures are taken to preserve them, according to Dr. Davenport. The diminutive pigmies are highly susceptible to disease and are extremely suspicious of civilized treatment, he says.

Dr. Davenport was one of the members of an expeditionary group to secure rare beasts for various zoos and museums. While working on this expedition, he was bitten by a cobra, clawed by a leopard and shot by an arrow from a pigmy's bow. He was chosen to accompany Lord Carnarvon, discoverer of the tomb of Tut-ankhamen in Luxor, Egypt. Recognized as an outstanding scientist, Dr. Cameron is credited with being able to present his story in plain and effective words which even children can understand.

WILL GIVE LECTURE
AT CHURCH TONIGHT

The Rev. Glen Morton, missionary from Africa, will speak at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Seventh Day Adventist church at the corner of Sycamore and Fifteenth streets. It was announced today the speaker will recite his experiences as a missionary in both the interior of Africa and at Capetown, Africa. The lecture will be illustrated by slides. The speaker will be introduced by the Rev. N. C. Peterson, pastor of the church.

WALKING WITH GOD

One of the needs of the normal person is companionship with folks. The human heart craves fellowship with his kind. Solitary confinement is the most terrible punishment that can be meted out to man. Yet when man has fellowship with his fellows his life is not completely satisfied. He craves another companionship, The Divine.

As we read history we find men ever trying to find methods of contacting the Divine Personality. We read that, "Enoch walked with God", and again that, "Noah was a righteous man and he walked with God". Abraham was a man of faith and he walked with God. Jesus tells His disciples to pray without ceasing, being in a continual state of prayer. What does it mean to walk with God?

"Walking With God"

This is a simple statement there in the book of Genesis. Enoch was the kind of a man with whom God could commune. He lived the life which made some of the Divine plans for life plain for him. In all these statements of the Bible it is plain that the Divine wishes to walk and to commune with men. Man may in every field of his need come to know the mind of the Divine. Take the man of science who discovers the facts which bring new light on the working of Divine law. That man is simply walking with God that far.

Walking with God day by day is ordering our lives as we know God would have us to do. If all men would endeavor to discover the way God is moving in His world and in the lives of men there would be a different world over night. God has a plan for the lives of men in their business relations and in the great economic problems just as sure as He has in the field of chemistry and other sciences. We may walk with Him in all of the fields of human activity if we but will listen to His voice and heed His guidance. His ways are ways of gentleness and ways of peace. Ways of love and satisfaction.

The Olympic Games at Los Angeles are still weeks away, but the first protest has been aired. Charles Denis, secretary of the French Olympic committee, thinks it is most unsportsmanlike of the United States Olympic authorities to deny French athletes their daily liter of wine.

REFLECTION

It may be only a coincidence, and certainly is not offered as an argument against prohibition, but the only track victory scored by the United States in the 1928 Olympic Games at Amsterdam was that of Ray Barburt, and Ray included wine in his daily diet.

HEAVY HOGAN

Whatever James Francis Hogan, catcher of the Giants, eats or drinks seems to turn quickly into pounds. Francis has been having trouble keeping his weight below 250 pounds, in spite of the fact that Mr. McGraw keeps him under close surveillance by scanning the dining room checks.

AND "HACK" WILSON

Mr. Wilson of the Brooklyn Boys also has been having some little annoyance with his waist line, not to mention his batting average. Hack likes potatoes and well buttered bread. It begins to appear that the young man will have trouble hitting the size of his belt.

"PEANUTS" CARNERA

While on large topics, it is hard to forget that the ponderous shadow of Primo Carnera will appear on the boxing horizon again this year. How about a match for the obesity championship between Hogan, Wilson and Carnera? By the way, did you know that Primo has a great way with a peanut or a banana?

35 CENTS AN HOUR

If a colored boy flashes across the line winner in one of the Olympic sprint events this summer, do not be surprised. His name will be Ralph Metcalfe, who at the moment is working around the gymnasium at Marquette University, at a stipend of 35 cents an hour.

THE FRIENDLY GAME

A recent publicity dispatch from Notre Dame helped to brighten the day. It was "Coach Hearty Anderson today expressed satisfaction with the showing of his team and predicted a fair season next fall. Play was ragged in spots, but Anderson laid this to the hot weather and the friendly nature of the game." Of course when the Irish start becoming unfriendly, you may be sure the football season is under way.

DISCOVERY

Disturbing tidings are wafted from the coast where it seems there is a rummed named Bob Kiesel of the University of California who does not like to run. Kiesel admits he went out for track because his parents and friends told him he ought to do something for the dear old school. He does not want to run in the Olympic games because he does not see much fun in running. Well, I guess you can't send a man to San Uentin for that.

THOSE PHILS

Have you noticed how hot those Phils have been this year? After taking the Athletics in the spring city series, they started burning up the National league. But then a team with a pitcher named Reginald Grabowski just expected to accomplish almost anything at that, I guess.

YES, IT WOULD

All the baseball prognosticators are hiding their lights under a bushel basket these days with the done well-scrambled. Wouldn't it be uproarious if the world series of 1932 should be staged between Detroit and Cincinnati?

SECRET PUNCH MASTER JOINS SHARKEY CAMP

By HENRY McEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, May 21.—(UP)—Among the several thousand and one things a heavyweight champion or challenger has to put up with in training camp, are those 24-karat, double-dipped and super-tedicated nubs who wander in with delusions of grandeur.

Take, for example, that magnificent, blue-ribbon filbert who breezed into Jack Sharkey's quarters at Orangeburg yesterday. No one knows where the bird came from, who he is, or how he reached Orangeburg. He was discovered Friday morning when Paulino Uzcudun and a couple of lightweights strolled into the gymnasium.

When they walked in, there he stood, punching the bag. Six feet or more tall, skinny as a rail, and dressed in a pair of baggy green tights and high walking shoes, he was a sight for sore eyes.

Senior Paulino Inquires "What," said Paulino, "what de hell are youse doing here?"

The stranger turned, looked the Basque square in the eyes, and handed him a telegram. It read:

"Report to Orangeburg at once stop you to spar with Sharkey." (Signed) Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey.

"Now," said the stranger, "I guess you see I am somebody. Let me tell you, I am probably the greatest fighter in the world. I am a whirlwind on defense and can hit with both hands, though I'm a natural southpaw. But my best bet is a secret punch—a punch that will knock Sharkey haywire the minute I let it go. Ah, I just ache to get in there with Sharkey. And when I knock him haywire I will claim the championship of the world."

The stranger resumed his punching. He missed three times in succession, tripping after each miss.

Wired Himself Paulino watched him for a minute and then said:

"Listen, mugg, Buckley never sent you any telegram. What de hell are you doing up here?"

"All right," said the stranger. "He didn't send me the telegram. I sent it to myself, just to get up here and show Sharkey up. I came last night and slept in the gym. As soon as I knock him out

Miss Wethered's victory gave the English team its first triumph, the Americans having swept the three Scotch foursomes earlier in the day.

Miss Edna Wilson gave the British their second victory by defeating the U. S. champion, Miss Helen Hicks of Hewlett, N. Y., 2 and 1.

The competition was placed in a tie by the victory of Miss Diana Fishwick, former British champion, over Miss Maureen O'Connell of Englewood, N. J., 4 and 3.

JUNIOR-SENIOR DEADLOCK ENDS SPRING SERIES

The 1932 spring practice season faded away today without an interclass football champion at Santa Ana high school.

Although the season remains in progress, with interest turned to the "last year-this year" regulation game at Poly field next Saturday, the annual series of interclass football games ended yesterday, with the juniors and seniors contributing a third tie, 0 to 0, in four quarters of bruising play.

The interclass record: Sophomores 0, Seniors 0. Sophomores 6, Juniors 6. Juniors 0, Seniors 0.

Under the scoring system which lets a tie as half-a-game won and half-a-game lost, all three Saint combinations ended their season with a .500 rating, but the juniors, displaying a highly developed backfield, came within five yards of earning a .750 rating and the championship in their contest with the seniors yesterday. It was in the third quarter, and happened this way:

Juniors Fumble Near Goal The juniors had the ball on the senior 22-yard line through brilliant offensive work of their hard-running captain, Herb Duncan. Paul Hales, halfback, hit the center of the line for 4 yards. Jack Mitchell went 2 yards to the 15-yard mark, and Captain Duncan registered 4 more on a play through left tackle. Hales then carried the pilskin, gained 6 yards to the senior 5-yard line, but fumbled and the seniors, recovering, kicking out of dangerous territory.

Horace Ender, fullback, was the shining light of the seniors. Wayne Gross shared junior backfield honors with Captain Duncan and Mitchell. They could not stop Ender yesterday. Time and again "Napoleon" sailed through the line for 8 and 10 yards. He started his gaining streak in the second quarter, but it was not until the final period that he "cut loose." Ender made 24 yards on 3 straight attempts, through the line, an 15 yards gain on a single play, going from the 43-yard mark of the seniors to the 42-yard line of the juniors.

Gross Breaks Loose Gross, on a delayed buck, found an opening as large as a barn door in the junior line once during the second quarter. His characteristic speed carried him 22 yards through the left side and on down the sidelines to the senior 40-yard mark, where he was brought down by Ramacher, guard. Gross also gained 18 yards in the third quarter on an end run.

Another good gain in the third period was contributed by Bill Quon, senior, who scampered 21 yards around right end. Quon had the juniors worried several times. Captain Jack Wright and Sam Tucker of the seniors, Clair Preininger and Lee Hamilton of the juniors, were others in the backfield who showed intermittent streaks of brilliance.

Herb Hagthorn, senior halfback, broke up several of the junior aerial attempts, and along with Tackle Bolton, was outstanding defensively. Clifford Baxter, bulky center, showed remarkable improvement over his first interclass game performance.

Blair of Corona Captures Orange Net Tournament

Eliminating Harold Hemus of Fullerton in the finals, Walter Blair of Corona, 1931 winner, again clinched first-place honors in the fifth annual Orange Invitational tennis tournament yesterday.

With two legs on the trophy, Corona must win only one more time to gain permanent possession of the handsome award. Santa Ana, Tustin and Fullerton all hold one leg on the trophy, Stewart McPherson of the Saints winning in 1928, first year of the tournament.

Lewis Wetherell and Fred Wiemer, Santa Ana entries, were eliminated in the semi-finals. Hemus took Wetherell in straight sets of 6-4, 6-3. After winning his first set, 6-4, Wiemer fell before Blair, the champion, in second and third sets of 6-1, 6-3.

In the finals, Blair and Hemus fought brilliantly, Blair losing his first set, 4-6, but coming back in the second and third to clinch the 1932 title with 6-3, 8-6 victories.

Tuesday, they planned, they will begin playing day baseball at the Seals' stadium here. If it proves profitable, their managers said, they will discard local night games entirely. If it doesn't, they said, they will resume playing beneath the electric lights.

Joe Bearwald, president of the M.L.B., insisted that the novelty of night baseball has worn off, as far as San Francisco is concerned, and that something must be done to bolster up a falling attendance of cash customers.

George Putnam, secretary of the Seals, said he doubted whether day games would help, but fell in line.

Crowds have been slim this year. In an attempt to revive interest in the league, admission prices were set by selling certain rows of seats at bleacher prices. Gate prizes were offered for a while but the crowds still stayed away.

Night games, Bearwald admitted, are all right for Los Angeles and Sacramento, where the weather is rather warm in the daytime—but not for San Francisco.

Other managers watched the proposed experiment with interest.

Carideo New Grid Mentor At Missouri

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 21.—(UP)—Frank Carideo, former All-American quarterback at Notre Dame, today was named head football coach at the University of Missouri by the executive board of the board of directors.

Carideo has been at Purdue, serving as assistant to Noble Kizer.

However, it required a marvelous defensive play by the agile little "Memphy" Hill, shortstop, to keep the Stars' scoreless string intact.

In the seventh inning, with one down, "Speed" Landreth, the slowest man in the league, hit a towering fly over "Rosy" Merrill in Santa Ana's right field. Some slow running by the heavy-footed Landreth and a fast relay by Merrill held the drive to three bases. McClure, the next batsman, almost drove Third Baseman Darwin Scott off his legs with a line drive.

Scott did well to stop the ball, which caromed crazily into the infield where it was recovered by the alert Hill and converted into a fielder's choice, Hill making a hurried but perfect throw to the plate in time to expunge Landreth for the second out. Coleman fanned, and the record was protected.

Deane Downer was on the knoll for Long Beach, took a pretty bad beating. The Stars had no big inning, but by ones and twos built a substantial lead which was never menaced.

Every Santa Ana except "Rusty" Sullivan, who played but one inning, collected at least one blow.

Merrill scored the first run. He singled in the opening inning, went to third on Ed Daley's long single to center, scored when Murray let the throw-in elude him.

Doubles by Hapes and Hill produced one in the third. The score mounted to 3-0 in the fifth when Hapes was safe on McClure's error and DeBusk's double to right.

Nelson's homer, and singles by Preble and Scott made it 5-0 in the sixth. Hits by Hill and Nelson and Merrill's sacrifice which was good for two bases which Lower threw wildly to first increased the margin to its 7-0 limit in the seventh.

"String" McDonnell nosed out Earl Morrill in a pitcher's battle at Westminster, giving Whittier a 4-3 verdict over the Aviators and Fred Hall's rejuvenated Poets undisputed possession of second place.

Three errors in the first inning proved costly to Westminster's cause. Moon led off with a single. Rice was safe when Gardner muffed his fly. "Brass" Davis got a life on Wilson's bobble and then Boyd Davis overthrew home, trying to head off a second run.

Doubles by Moon and Hill and a single by Rice figured in Whittier's two run flurry in the third. Westminster made one in the fourth when Burns singled, went to second on a passed ball, scored on Gardner's single. In the fifth, Hosack walked, Morrill doubled, and Hunter and Rogers singled, netting a pair of tallies.

DEBUSK HOLDS LONG BEACH TO FOUR BASEHITS

After four games and 36 innings of National Night league baseball, Santa Ana's opponents are still to score their first run.

The Stars completed their fourth successive shutout here last night, blanking Long Beach, 7 to 0.

"Blondy" DeBusk, working his first conference game in a Santa Ana monkey-suit, yielded only four hits and struck out eight.

However, it required a marvelous defensive play by the agile little "Memphy" Hill, shortstop, to keep the Stars' scoreless string intact.

FORD FINANCE CO., BIG HELP TO CAR BUYER

One of the developments of the past few years which created national interest was the development of Universal Credit Company Plans for the purpose of financing exclusively the time sales of Ford products throughout the country.

Universal Credit Company is a specialized financial institution created to provide uniform and authorized time payment plans at low cost for the purchase of Ford products on an installment basis. The company has made sound and gratifying progress. The reception accorded the Authorized Ford-Finance Plans by the public and Ford dealers in the 34 large cities where the plans are in operation is indeed impressive.

To date contracts in excess of $500,000,000 have been financed on UCC Plans which establishes a new record in installment financing for an institution which has been in operation for less than four years. It is anticipated that the volume of business handled on UCC Plans will exceed $25,000,000 monthly from now on.

Since UCC Plans were placed in operation in 1928 financing costs on Ford products have been reduced generally so that it is estimated that Ford time purchasers have been able to save in excess of $50,000,000 through the lower charges of this Ford financing plan.

The purpose of Universal Credit Company is to reduce the cost of credit to the individual who buys on time, commensurate with sound business policies.

The convenient terms and low cost features of UCC Plans are available to Ford purchasers at the George Dunton, Ford Agency, at 610 North Main street, Authorized Ford dealers in this community.

Traweck Is Named District Manager For Firestone

The growing importance of the Southwest is evidenced by an announcement made by R. J. Cope, president of Firestone Tire & Rubber Company of California, of the appointment of C. E. Traweck as District Manager, in charge of Firestone distribution in Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico and Western Texas.

Mr. Traweck is widely known throughout the South and East as an authority on tires through his service as Trade Sales Manager for Firestone in charge of the Southern, Eastern and Northeastern divisions of the United States. Previously, he had directed Firestone sales in Florida.

The new District Chief brings to tire users in the Great Southwest a wealth of experience and training in truck tire sales as well as in the passenger car tire field. It was his successful record which he established in serving many of America's large commercial tire buyers that won him appointment as Trade Sales Manager at Akron, the post which he left to accept charge of distribution in this district.

Mr. Traweck, who was born in Texas, expressed pleasure in his Coast appointment. "It's like coming home," he said. "Nowhere in the country is there so much friendliness in business and in daily living. I have been amazed at the rapid growth in this district since my last visit here fifteen years ago. The economic structure in the Southwest is fundamentally sound and I can see a brilliant future of growth for our commerce and industry here."

Mr. Traweck's office is in Los Angeles but he plans to maintain a close personal contact with all portions of his new district.

GOOD FISHING IN RIVERSIDE COUNTY

Streams in Riverside County are all clear and offer excellent fishing, reports the Touring Department of the National Automobile Club. Heavy plants of trout have been made in the following fishing spots:

Upper North and South Forks of the San Jacinto River, Snow Creek, White Water River, Jensen, Tahquitz, Strawberry and Stone Creeks. Hemet Reservoir recently received a plant of 20,000 fish ranging in size from six to nine inches.

with two extra tires in fenderwells, weighed exactly 4440 pounds.

VAST AMOUNT TO BE SPENT ON INLAND RT.

A total of 79 miles of the Inland Route from Pomona to San Diego via Corona, Elsinore, and Escondido will be improved within the next few years at a total cost of $7,453,020, states an announcement by C. H. Purcell, state highway engineer.

The proposed work includes seven miles of a new route from Poway Corners, in San Diego County, to San Clemente Canyon, eliminating the present Poway Grade. The state highway commission has under consideration the construction of a tunnel through the Poway Hills. It is noted by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The proposals also include construction of a new bridge across the San Luis Rey River to carry the highway north from Escondido approximately along the route of the Moosa Canyon Road, crossing the San Luis Rey River at Bonnell.

SEE REVIVAL IN AUTO CAMPING THIS SUMMER

That the summer of 1932 will see a great revival of automobile camping with tourists dotting the highways in increased numbers, sleeping under canvas and cooking their own meals, is the opinion of Jock Campbell, local manager of the Western Auto Supply Company.

Several factors will contribute to this increase, according to Campbell. Most influential of them all is the reduction in touring costs. While auto camping has always offered an economical means of seeing the country, lower prices on equipment have increased vacation trip savings this year. 1924 was an outstanding camping year throughout the country, but this year should be even greater as camping equipment can now be purchased for about half the price paid eight years ago.

Those who are profitably employed will take advantage of the opportunity to see more of the country through the reduced vacation expenses, while those less fortunate will find camping a means of reducing living costs and at the same time enjoy the out of doors. It is generally agreed that camping is not only the most inexpensive mode of travel that has yet been devised, but it also offers a healthful and independent means of seeing the country.

The record sale of camp goods established in 1924 is likely to be repeated and the general conditions fostering this revival parallel, to a great extent, conditions which made camping popular in the past decade. Anticipating this swing of the popularity pendulum in the direction of the auto camp trail, the Western Auto stores have begun an extensive advertising campaign calling attention to the lower prices for 1932 which assures a pleasant vacation tour at a price within the reach of all.

SAFETY CODE FOR WALKERS OUTLINED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 21.—A safety code for California pedestrians is suggested by E. Raymond Cato, chief of California highway patrol, as follows:

1. Cross at intersections only and always use crosswalks.
2. Stop and look both ways before stepping from the curb.
3. Heed the traffic officers and traffic signals, and then look again before entering the crossing.
4. Be careful in getting off street cars. Look before stepping down.
5. Discipline yourself to be alert at all times, as the pedestrian always comes out second best.
6. Be suspicious of all drivers. It is often hard to tell if a driver is careful or careless until the smash-up occurs. Then it is too late.

CAR NOT SAFE UNLESS TIRES IN GOOD SHAPE

With high-speed driving practically universal today, tires are being built with greater strength and resistance, so that the motorist gets far more wear and service than ever before in the history of the automotive industry, according to Mr. Pagenkopp, U. S. Tire dealer in this city.

"Tire improvement has progressed so far," Mr. Pagenkopp said, "that today the tread on the tires of a light car wears less than one fiftieth of an inch in 1000 miles of driving."

Performance increased. "The general trend in automotive development in the last few years," said Mr. Pagenkopp, "has been to accentuate performance in all its phases—acceleration, hill-climbing, quick stopping and starting and general roadability. To keep up with this, tire manufacturers have been devoting considerable time and expense toward the improvement of tires. As a result, today tires are constructed to withstand far more speed and to resist the heat that is engendered by the usage to which tires are put.

"The average speed on the open road today is at least 10 to 15 miles faster than it was a few years ago. Fifty miles an hour average is no longer unusual on long trips, and, of course, this means speeds of between 60 and 70 miles to maintain this average. That tires today stand up under these speeds even better than did the tires of yesterday under far slower speeds is ample proof of the great strides that have been made in the development of tires."

NASH HAS NEW DUEL SILENCER FOR EXHAUSTS

KENOSHA, Wis., May 21.—The dual exhaust silencers, which effectively banish exhaust sounds in all models of the five new series of Nash cars, are considered one of the most interesting of the many mechanical innovations of the radically advanced newcomers.

The new, straight-line exhaust pipes, which prevent back pressure in the system, have been enlarged to allow more rapid escape of exhaust gases, and new live rubber mountings for both pipe and muffler insulate any possible vibration from the car frame. The muffler is made up of two complete devices to eliminate sound. The first muffler chamber is like a Maxim silencer, absorbing exhaust sounds at their source. The second chamber is a restorer, which takes away the throbbing impulses not already damped out in the silence chamber. The entire unit is doubly insulated with asbestos and offers a striking example of the thoroughness of Nash "silence engineering."

FOG WORST ENEMY OF ALL MOTORISTS: HERE'S RULES THAT WILL HELP FIGHT IT

He may be the most reckless driver in the country, and fear not the hazards of passing on curves, cutting in, and beating traffic lights. But no matter how fearless he is, there's one thing that strikes fear into the heart of the average motorist. That enemy is FOG.

During spring and fall days, when the sun in daytime warms the earth, a cold layer of air passing over the warm ground at night causes the creation of minute drops of water. These fog particles present an impenetrable blanket in front of the driver and prevent him seeing the road or any cars coming in the opposite direction.

The first thing to do on encountering fog is to open the windshield wipers enough to see under it. If this is impossible, do your driving by peering your head out the window and watching the road. It is much easier to see through fog direct than through a glass.

Naturally, you must proceed at a slow rate of speed. Keep your eyes open for the curb at the side of the road, if one happens to be there, or the center line of the highway.

If there is another passenger in your car, he can aid you by keeping watch on the right side of the car and cautioning you when you come too close to the edge of the road.

Some motorists believe that an orange or red light will penetrate a fog, but recent research by lighting engineers have disproved this theory.

About the only lighting precautions you can take is to have fog lamps attached to your car. These lamps should be placed in front and about on a line with the bumper.

per. This throws the illumination along the road, and does not cause the light to reflect from the fog bank back into the driver's eyes.

If a spotlight is on your car, direct its light downward to flash about six feet in front of the left front wheel and on to the center stripe of the road.

By masking off the upper section of ordinary headlights, the light from them is thrown downward.

At the same time, George Dunton, local dealer, announced there were new Ford V-8 models on his show floors now and that the public was invited to see them at any time. The place is open until 9 p. m. daily.

B. F. GOODRICH SALES CHARTS SHOW GAINS

An impressive national gain of 25.9 per cent in unit sales of B. F. Goodrich Company Safety Silverstone tires is reported by Ed. Swift, mgr. Goodrich Silverstone Inc., at 1st and Broadway. "This great national gain in sales of these tires shows public acceptance of their new features and is especially gratifying at this time when everyone is looking for brighter signs on the business horizon," declares Swift.

"These increased sales," Swift declares, "show that the public will buy merchandise of improved design, incorporating many new features which guarantee added service."

"The new Safety Silverstone," says Mr. Swift, "have been built so we can truthfully claim they are the safest tires ever constructed. They were three years in development, proved through 1,257,000 test miles on cars of the Goodrich Silver Fleet and placed on the market only after the Goodrich company was sure they would more than meet the claims made for them."

MONTGOMERY, JOAN CRAWFORD HERE SUNDAY

"Impatient Maiden" Opens At West Coast Sunday

LETTY LYNTON'S NEWEST FILM FOR 2 STARS

"Letty Lynton," sensational drama of modern society and its reckless diversions, with Joan Crawford and Robert Montgomery in the principal roles, is the attraction opening Sunday at the Fox Broadway Theatre. Adapted from Marie Belloc Lowndes' famous novel, the film presents an amazing picture of modern life. Its scenes range from the colorful people charm of South America to the night life of New York with a spectacular sequence played on a great ocean liner.

A Dangerous Affair
The story is that of an heiress whose preoccupation with the new "feminine freedom" entangles her in a dangerous affair with an arrogant South American lover. When she ultimately leaves him for her true love, an American, she is followed by her former lover and is subsequently involved in a sensational scandal which results in the death of the American's death with all fingers pointing to her as the murderer. The outcome makes for an intriguing drama of the first order, giving both Miss Crawford and Montgomery every opportunity for effective portrayals.

Among the film's high-powered episodes are the dramatic scene in which the girl attempts to break off relations with the ruthless South American, the sensational discovery of his death in a New York hotel, the battle of wits in the district attorney's office and the dramatic clash in the girl's home.

The stars are supported by a strong cast including Nils Asther, member in his work opposite Greta Garbo in silent films; the popular character actor, Lewis Stone; May Robson, Louise Closser Hale, Emma Dunn, Walter Walker and William Pawley. The picture is directed by Clarence Brown, who produced Miss Crawford's recent hit, "Possessed," and such other box-office prizes as "A Free Girl" and "Emma."

ARRELL-GAYNOR IN "THE FIRST YEAR"

"The First Year," co-starring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell is now before the cameras at the Fox studios. This is the first co-appearance of Miss Gaynor and Farrell since they played together in "Delicious."

"The First Year," which is being directed by William K. Howard, has been adapted from Frank Craven's successful stage play. In it Miss Gaynor and Farrell are supported by Dudley Digges, Robert McWade, Maude Eburne, Lella Bennett and George Meeker.

BROADWAY SUNDAY

Joan Crawford, who comes to the Fox Broadway theater Sunday with Robert Montgomery in "Letty Lynton," Miss Crawford's latest picture success.

Zane Gray's Fishing Film At Broadway

(By A. B. Berry)

An unusual feature picture, to be shown at Fox Broadway theater starting Sunday with the regular feature is "South Seas Adventures." The picture, an added attraction on his recent fishing trip. The picture, an added attraction, is six reels long, and unless we miss our guess, will give the regular feature, "Letty Lynton" a run for its money so far as popularity is concerned.

Some of the greatest fishing pictures ever caught by a camera are seen, and Gray has produced the film in such a manner that it is interesting throughout.

Fannie Hurst Story Is Now Completed

Director John M. Stahl has completed Fannie Hurst's "Back Street" featuring Irene Dunne and John Boles after 12 weeks of filming. The story of the girl who found love her greatest joy yet her eternal despair has been one of the most difficult Stahl has undertaken in 18 years as a director of domestic dramas. An exceptional cast supports Miss Dunne and Mr. Boles.

FIVE ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE AT FOX BROADWAY

Five acts of vaudeville, together with the picture, "Sky Bride," starring Jack Oakie and Richard Arlen, will be seen at the Fox Broadway theater tonight, this program having opened to a large crowd last night.

"Sky Bride" brings back to the screen the partnership of Arlen and Oakie in another thriller. Their work together in "Touchdown," which played here several weeks ago, won instant approval throughout the United States, but "Sky Bride" is a better picture throughout, because it offers more thrills and more acting.

It is the story of two barnstormers of the air who take all kinds of chances to keep their air circus from going on the rocks and the stunt flying is featured throughout. Virginia Bruce is the girl in the story while Charles Starrett, Louise Closser Hale and Tom Douglas have important roles.

On the stage is seen Hadja Ali and Company, with five people, in an Egyptian Mystery act and Human Volcano, which headlines the bill and the other following acts: Frank Yerxa and Greta, dancing wire walking; Vine and Morrison, comedy and songs; Paul DeForest and Company, Black Art Adagioists and Juggling Davey and Miss, comedy jugglers.

ARTIST SELECTS 10 PRETTIEST WOMEN

The bravest man to visit Hollywood is Cecil B. DeMille, famed portrait photographer who selects the screen's ten most beautiful actresses. However, he issued his choices on the eve of his return to England. He picks: Marlene Dietrich, Tallulah Bankhead, Greta Garbo, Lilyan Tashman, Marion Davies, Norma Shearer, Ina Claire, Gwili Andre, Kay Francis and Joan Crawford.

Hold Prohibition Debate In Yorba Linda On May 26

The public is invited to attend.

'Sunnybrook Farm' Stars Bellamy

Ralph Bellamy did not have to rehearse a single line for his part opposite Marian Nixon in the forthcoming Fox picture, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." Mr. Bellamy has played the role many times on the stage. Al Santell is directing the film, whose cast, in addition to Miss Nixon and Bellamy, includes Mae Marsh, Louise Closser Hale, Alan Hale, Eula Guy, Sarah Padden and Claire McDowell, among others.

TOM MIX FINISHES HIS THIRD TALKIE

His third Universal feature given the release title of "Marked Men," Tom Mix has begun work on "Kings Up," an original story by Jack Netteford and Richard Schayer under the direction of Kurt Neumann. "Mickey Mooney," recently seen in "The Information Kid," Noel Francis, Paul Hurst and Jim Thorpe are in support of Mix, not to overlook his beloved "Tony," filmdom's most famous horse.

Chevalier Goes to Stage for While

Upon completion of his part in "Love Me Tonight," with Maurice Chevalier, Charles E. Butterworth will prepare for a brief return to Broadway, he says. He plans to leave in July to appear with Gertrude Lawrence and Clifton Webb in a Max Gordon musical written by Kaufman and Dietz, authors of "Band Wagon."

"THIS IS THE NIGHT" LIKED AT WEST COAST

Entertainment values have certainly been weaned away from Broadway, their stronghold for years, by the omnivorous talking pictures—as witness "This Is the Night," Paramount's extravagantly funny and musical show which closes tonight at the Fox West Coast Theater.

The three leading personages in "This Is the Night" are Broadway notables who have clicked to the thousands at $3 to $6 per seat in many a successful New York stage comedy or musical revue.

In this show Lily Damita is a beautiful Parisian actress who is hired by Charlie Ruggles to pose as the "wife" of Roland Young. This deception is necessary to fool Cary Grant, young business man, with whose wife, Thelma Todd, the bachelor Young had been caught in a gay moment, by Grant just-back-from-a-long-trip. When Young displays his "wife" to whom he is very ostentatiously attentive, Grant will be fooled into thinking that Young's "affair" with Thelma was nothing serious. That is Ruggles' theory—and Young gladly plays his part in it.

The five friends take a trip to Venice and there complications begin—for Lily and Young begin to perceive that they are really falling in love with each other. This arouses the jealousy of Thelma, who still has a warm spot in her heart for Young—and Ruggles, perceiving the fix things are in, tries to save the situation by romping off on a gondola ride with the flirtatious Lily. Well, Grant begins to warm up to Lily himself—and the complications revolve in a cyclone of farcical predicaments. It all ends up merrily.

Brea Union To Name Head Soon

BREA, May 21.—Mrs. Cora Hale, of Fullerton, county president of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, met with the Brea union Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. B. Bouie. Plans were made for the next meeting, which will occur on June 17 at the home of Mrs. Donald Gaylord, at which time the flower mission of the organization will be celebrated by a story of its founder, Jennie Casady, as a part of the program.

It was reported that Arthur Crowhurst, of Brea, had won the first county prize for an essay on scientific temperance.

LEW AYRES COMING

Mae Clark and Lew Ayres in a scene from "The Impatient Maiden," which opens a three-day run at the Fox West Coast theater Sunday.

WINCHELL WILL MAKE PICTURE FOR "PUBLIC"

Walter Winchell, America's most famous columnist, Broadway and Hollywood chatter writer and most sensational of radio news broadcaster has succumbed to the lure of the movies and will soon appear in a Universal feature based on his own career and produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr.

Winchell, whose radio fan mail has exceeded that of all other broadcasters during the past six months, has been in California for several weeks recuperating from a nervous breakdown brought about by overwork, in New York. His daily chatter column syndicated by the New York Mirror to other newspapers all over America, many magazine articles, his original radio expressions and advance gossip on men and women in the public eye have made him one of the outstanding figures in American life today and Universal signed him after heated competition with several other film producing organizations.

William Anthony McGuire, celebrated playwright is now at work on an original story for Winchell's starring production, and release title and directorial assignment will be made upon completion of the scenario, Mr. Laemmle states.

"Okay, America," says Winchell, "you'll see me later!"

John Ford has been assigned the direction of Universal's spectacular production, "Air Mail," for which Pat O'Brien and Slim Summerville have been the first actors cast. "Air Mail," from the pens of Dale Van Avery, Lt. Comm. Frank Wood and Martin Brown, deals with the spirit behind the daily and nightly flights of the Governmental mails in and above the clouds. Production will begin in early June.

EXOTIC LOVE STORY NEWEST FOR LEW AYRES

Lew Ayres and Mae Clark will be seen together in the new film, "The Impatient Maiden," which comes to the Fox West Coast theater Sunday for a three day engagement.

This exceptional screen play is a constant succession of clever lines, and its robust humor is interpreted by an ideal cast.

When, as occasionally happens, the story takes a serious turn, the actors are fully equal to the demands made upon them, and impress throughout as a group of real human beings. Lew Ayres, as a young interne, has probably never had a more pleasing role, and Mae Clark, in the leading feminine part, runs him a close race for honors. A large portion of the comedy is furnished by Andy Devine and Una Merkel, both of whom are delightfully natural, and John Halliday contributes a suave and slightly menacing characterization as the too popular divorce lawyer. Other less important roles are capably played by Ethel Griffies, Bert Roach, Oscar Apfel, Helen Jerome Eddy, Cecil Cunningham, Arthur Hoyt and many others.

Good Story

"The Impatient Maiden" tells the story of romance between Ayres and Miss Clarke, secretary to the divorce lawyer, and contemptuous of men because of the things she has learned in the office. Ayres and Devine, a male nurse, become interested in Miss Clarke and Miss Merkel, roommates, when the men come to the flat building in which the girls have their home, in response to a hurry-up call for the ambulance, on account of an attempted suicide by a woman tenant. Loving not wisely, but too well, Ayres and Miss Clark, through a misunderstanding, and the girl finally moves into a luxurious apartment in a building owned by her employer. It is at this point that the story takes a more serious turn, and dramatic incidents build up to a climax which is filled with suspense.

Women Clubs Weddings

Announcement Made of Yuma, Arizona, Wedding

Announcement was made today of an interesting marriage which took place Monday evening, May 14 in Yuma, Ariz., when Miss Maude Chandler of Long Beach, and Lee Staton of Santa Ana, were married. The Rev. Mr. Brooke officiated at the impressive ceremony.

The marriage brought together two families who have been close friends for three generations. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Chandler of Long Beach, and Mr. Staton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Staton of 1246 Cypress street, Santa Ana.

For the ceremony, the bride was charming in a smart ivory sports frock of sheer woolen, trimmed with ermine. Long ivory gauntlets and a French turban completed the lovely costume. Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. Staton, parents of the young couple.

From Yuma, the new Mr. and Mrs. Staton continued on to Grand Canyon, expecting to visit Bryce Canyon in Utah and other interesting scenic points before their return.

On their return, the newlyweds will make their home in Santa Ana, where Mr. Staton is a prominent young business man.

Mrs. Staton is a graduate of Woodrow Wilson high school and Long Beach junior college. Mr. Staton is a graduate of Santa Ana junior college.

Santa Anans Attend Surprise Party In Anaheim

A little group of Santa Anans attended a party given in Anaheim recently when friends and relatives joined in a surprise affair honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Floyd West. The West home in Anaheim was the scene of the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude West and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd West were just leaving to have dinner in a downtown cafe, so Mrs. Floyd West believed, when the self-invited guests arrived. They brought with them many tempting dishes for a covered-dish menu which was served at once. Bouquets of sweet peas, contributed by the guests, were used in decorating for the occasion.

At a late hour Mrs. West was presented a set of clear and black crystal by Dr. F. P. Rossetol. This was the gift of the assembled group.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Carothers, Mr. and Mrs. William Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Carothers and son Wayne and small baby daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Matthews and daughters, Marjorie and Zephia, of Santa Ana; Dr. and Mrs. F. ### Mrs. Warner Hostess To Beach Women

The meeting brought together many former members of this organization who came to Santa Ana to share the reunion, and hope was expressed by all that a second such get-together could be arranged at an early date. Among interesting guests at Wednesday's affair was Mrs. Martha Hearn, 90-year old Huntington Beach resident, and mother of F. E. Hearn of Santa Ana. Mrs. Hearn celebrated her 90th anniversary only recently.

Business matters were introduced by the president of the society, Mrs. E. S. Gregory of Huntington Beach, while Mrs. George of this city formerly of the beach city, read devotions and Miss Elizabeth Bruner of Santa Ana presented a program of readings. Refreshments were served by the hostesses to a group of 41 guests.

Korn-Pannier Marriage Performed in Garden Of Anaheim Home

In a beautiful garden setting of flowers and shrubbery, amid a soft radiance of lantern light, Miss Edna Louise Korn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Korn of Anaheim, became the bride of Milton Pannier, son of Mrs. Sarah Pannier, also of Anaheim, at a service performed Tuesday evening in the Korn residence on Western avenue.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Annette Mauerhan presented a xylophone program, assisted by Mrs. Ted Wood at the piano, her numbers being followed by tenor solo, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Oh Promise Me," sung by Lowell Schmid, Miss Mildred Mauerhan accompanying.

Enter Garden To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Mildred Mauerhan, the wedding party entered the garden, the bride on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She was crowned in white embroidered mull over white tulle, featuring an old-fashioned fichu of bride's lace and mull. Her brunette beauty was enhanced by an orange-blossom wreath worn in her hair and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids, lilies-of-the-valley and white bride roses.

Miss Ruth Korn accompanied her sister as maid of honor, wearing a beaded evening gown of peach flat crepe, with crystal jewelry. She carried orchid sweet peas, and salmon pink roses, tied with pale orchid tulle. Miss Cornelia Bode of Orange, as bridesmaid, was charming in orchid net over tulle, carrying salmon pink sweet peas, bound with orchid gauze. Dainty little Miss Ardele Messerschmidt, gown in pink ruffled chiffon, preceded the bride, scattering deep pink rose petals from a basket in the form of a pastel blue organdy bonnet, with pink streamers.

Carl E. Korn, brother of the bride, acted as best man, while ushers were Howard Pannier and Arthur Korn.

A group of slender green cedars, flanked with torches and tall baskets of blue delphinium, peach-colored gladioli and orchid lily, formed the improvised altar, where the marriage lines were read. Miss Korn's brother-in-law, the Rev. U. S. Schauer of San Diego, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Edward Burgl of Anaheim.

Reception Follows Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was held, during which guests greeted the newly-married pair. Approximately 125 guests were in attendance. A two-course supper, consisting of salads, ices, and sweets was served. The bride's cake, elaborately decorated and surmounted by a miniature bride and bridegroom, and the individual packages of wedding cake, claimed special attention.

For her going-away costume, Mrs. Pannier donned a becoming brown and ivory outfit, with hat and shoes to match. By a successful ruse to match. By a successful ruse, the couple eluded the showers of rice and departed by automobile for a two weeks' trip to Yosemite valley, and other northern points.

The many handsome gifts of linen, china, glassware, silver, and household furnishings received, will be used in the cozy bungalow in Anaheim which the newly-married couple will occupy upon their return.

Brisco, president of the Orange county branch of the association. Mrs. Brisco and Mrs. Horace Scott will represent the chapter as voting delegates.

Speakers Imposing Speakers of note have been procured to address the convention, and outstanding personages will feature each day's sessions. Among those will be the Honorable Vieri Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction; Dr. James A. Blaisdell, president of Claremont colleges; Harry L. Kingman, Dr. John Whittier Darr, of the department of philosophy and religion at Scripps college, and Dr. Susan M. Dorey. In addition to these lecture highlights, an alluring series of social festivities has been arranged to entertain delegates in attendance, this program embracing an international Relations luncheon, buffet suppers and theatrical presentations by the famous Claremont Community players.

Beginning with registration at 9 a. m. Saturday, program plans call for a tour of Claremont colleges, a South Pacific luncheon, at which Dr. Susan M. Dorey and the Honorable Vieri Kersey will speak; round table groups from 2 to 4 o'clock on such topics as education, membership, unemployment, vocational opportunities, international relations and fellowships; and a fellowship dinner at 6:30 o'clock at which five speakers, including Miss Gila-Wang, Chinese Fellow from the Pomona Valley branch, will be called upon.

Supper and Theater

Mrs. Brisco today urged the values to be derived from the conference program as outlined, and was enthusiastic in her wish that as many members of the Orange county branch as possible might take advantage of the three-day session to attend some part of it in unofficial capacity. Reservations should be made through her at once.

Pegasus Members Elect Officers at Beach Meeting

Election of officers took place at the enjoyable meeting of the Pegasus club held Thursday at the Balboa Island cottage of Mrs. George Bond. Mrs. Earl Morris was named president; Mrs. Bond, vice-president and Mrs. Walter Foote, secretary.

Preceding the meeting, members shared a covered-dish luncheon on the attractive porch of the beach home. Following, Mrs. Frank was read a letter from Mrs. Walter Foote who is away on a vacation. Mrs. Foote also sent a poem dedicated to Mrs. Bond in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Bond read two of her poems, "Wanderings" and "Lake Tahoe," after which Mrs. Charles Brisco read a sketch which she had clipped from a newspaper. This was titled "The Comic Strip Pegasus." Mrs. Frank Lansdown read a short story, "The Message of the Bells." Mrs. Morris' contribution also was a short story, "Peter Peyton." Miss Marjorie Luak gave the third chapter of a long story she is writing, "Always Try to Help." Mrs. Hugh Neighbour concluded the afternoon's program with poem, "Live Day by Day." Mrs. Justus Bircher joined the group as a guest for the day.

June Bride-elect Complimented at Shower

Among the several showers with which Miss Beryl Ludlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Ludlow of this city, has been feted since the announcement of her engagement to Clyde Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Higgins of Orange, were two occurring this week when Miss Helen Demetriou and Mrs. Lillian Dawson entertained at separate functions in their homes in this city. Miss Ludlow will wed Mr. Higgins on June 1.

Most recent of the parties in her honor was the kitchen shower arranged by Miss Demetriou and Miss Dorothy Dunbar, and given last evening in the Demetriou residence at 1638 East Fourth street. Maypole effects were charmingly carried out in this affair, a color scheme of pink, white and yellow being emphasized in decorations.

Receive Gifts

Miss Jeannette Lewis, Mrs. Woody Barnett and Mrs. Ray Dixon were successful in capturing first, second and consolation awards at bridge, each receiving a bowl of cactus plants, while to Miss Ludlow went a special prize of a book titled "Hints for The Bride," composed by the several guests.

Repairing to the breakfast room the honoree found other gifts tied to ribbons attached to a tall white Maypole, an effect carried out in miniature as a centerpiece for each of the tables about which guests assembled for refreshments, with the base of each pole serving as a large nut cup.

Guests at this affair included the Misses Beryl Ludlow, honoree, Aileen Adams, Roy Kaplan, Virginia Golden, Lois Waldren, Jeannette Lewis, Mary Lynn Wade, Jean Reuter, Valerie Demetriou, Mesdames Atha Fielde, Raymond Dixon, R. Paul, G. F. Ludlow and Woody Barnett, all of Santa Ana; Misses Louisa Hampton, Della Hampton and Juanita Fowler of Orange, and Mrs. Henry Snyder and Miss Virginia Hershner of Los Angeles, besides the hostesses, Misses Helen Demetriou and Dorothy Dunbar.

Equally attractive was the bridge tea with which Mrs. Lillian Dawson entertained in her home, 621 South Birch street, earlier in the week. Bidden to the rear of the home, upon their arrival, guests found tables grouped for bridge, and passed a pleasant several hours at the card game amidst an especially attractive setting.

An aviary, housing a great variety of birds, claimed the interested attention of guests, while a pond and quantities of flowers in full-bloom further enhanced the garden.

Paper dolls dressed appropriately as bridesmaids, were presented to those scoring high at bridge, while a doll attired in bridal costume was given the honoree. Gifts comprising the shower, were brought out in a large basket for Miss Ludlow, who shared her pleasure in opening the presents with the guests who had brought them. ### B. P. W. Board Members Enjoy Luncheon for Their President

The executive board of the Business and Professional Women's club yesterday noon shared in the birthday honors which Mrs. Thomas Douglas bestowed on Miss Lula Ott, president of that organization by means of a luncheon in her home, 1221 South Birch street.

Individualized dolls marked the place of each of the eight guests at the luncheon table and a centerpiece of Scotch broom and variegated yellow snapdragons centered the table. At the conclusion of the appetizing luncheon a birthday gift was presented Miss Ott.

Those present were Miss Lula Ott, Miss Harriet Whidden, Miss Dorothy Decker, Miss Hester Covington, Mrs. Loyal K. King, Miss Alma Karlsson, Miss Damaris Beeman, Mrs. Mildred Reinhardt and the hostess, Mrs. Douglas.

Past Matrons Enjoy Artistic Details Of Luncheon

When Hermosa Past Matrons assembled yesterday in Masonic temple to enjoy the hospitality of Mesdames F. D. Drake, M. M. Holmes, O. M. Robbins, Neal Beale and Ella Palmer, they one and all became enthusiastic over the artistry with which their hostesses had planned decorations for the luncheon hour.

Small tables, each arranged for half a dozen, were so adorned that each expressed some one of the soft pastel colors, not only in its floral centerpiece, but in the lace place and tumbler doilies used in the place of luncheon cloths, each set tinted to harmonize with the appointments for its individual table. This had been done by Mrs. Beale's newest daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edwin Beale, formerly Miss Audrey Leeson. Each table furthermore, had a single slender taper in its color theme, rising from a petal base in which all the pastel tones were mingled.

The flowers were unusually lovely, and after they had served as accompaniments to the delicious courses of the luncheon menu, they carried their message of cheer and comradeship to those members of the association prevented by illness from attending the luncheon.

Mrs. H. T. Trueblood presided over the short business meeting of the afternoon, and Mrs. Jacob Bohlander led the devotionals, reading impressively from "Thompson's" and asking everyone to join in singing "Let the Lower Lights Be Burning."

Roll call was answered with current events of interest, and a letter was read from Mrs. Viola May Maxon of Los Angeles, a member of the association. Plans were made for observing Memorial day, when the Past Matrons will place flowers on the graves of deceased members.

Mrs. John A. Harvey, program chairman, announced that her plans for the remainder of the afternoon included community singing, and with Mrs. H. T. Jones at the piano, all joined in the various old time favorites.

Past matrons present included Mesdames W. A. Atkinson, C. D. Beale, Minnie Briggs, Thomas Brooks, Jacob Bohlander, Neal Beale, C. V. Drake, C. S. Dunphy, C. W. Ellis, W. D. Finn, N. E. Gilbert, John A. Harvey, M. M. Holmes, Blanche Hansen, H. T. Jones, J. W. McCormack, J. R. Medlock, J. G. Mitchell, Ella Palmer, A. H. Pease, Jennie Peek, Fannie Reeves, Max Reinhaus, O. M. Robbins, Cora C. Rugg, G. R. Saffey, William Strassberger, W. H. Thomas, H. T. Trueblood, Jeanette Terwilliger, W. V. Whitson, Theo Winbiger, Roscoe Wilson, and the Misses Pauline Reinhaus and Martha Whitson.

HouseholdCorona Del Mar Is
Scene of College
Club Affair

Again the members of Los Ganchos chose Corona del Mar as their meeting place this week, when they met down early in the afternoon in order to acquire some of the season's golden tan. Swimming, football and baseball were some of the sports participated in by the members, and were sufficient to give them hearty appetites for the supper which was served about a blazing campfire, over which weiners and marshmallows were toasted.

A business meeting followed, and such business as holding a joint meeting with members of the Santa Ana club, and the proposing of a candidate for the Associated Student election to be held soon, was discussed.

Those present included DeWitt Bishop, Gordon Cudworth, George Eilers, Ed Bragg, Martin Lorenzen, Fred Pinkston, Jimmie Quigley, Kenneth Patrick, Elmer Kozler, Tom Donahue, Dana Beal, Charles Warner, Howard Randall, Roy Arms, Wilton Millard and Horace A. Scott, adviser.

Birthday Honored at Meeting of Bachelors

Honoring the birthday of Jack Hellen, the Brotherhood of Bachelors met this week in the home of James Goodfellow, in Garden Grove. Following the awarding of swags to Harry Holmes and Jack Crawford, a business meeting was held, at which it was decided to hold their annual stag banquet the first Monday after school has been dismissed. Garth Olsen, chairman; Emmet Seacord, and George Griffith were appointed as a committee for the affair, which will be given in the home of George Griffith at Laguna Beach.

Following the business meeting a huge birthday cake, iced in chocolate, and lighted with 22 pink tapers was presented to the honored member, Jack Hellen, and was cut and served with coffee, hot chocolate, wafers, nuts and candy.

The remainder of the evening was spent in listening to stories related by former Bachelor members Wayne Flynn and Jack Weatherly, the former, on his experiences at the University of California at Berkeley, and the latter in his experiences on the boat to Australia.

Those present in addition to the host, James Goodfellow, and the adviser, Sheldon M. Hayden, were Harry Clayton, Melvin Wiseman, Emmett Seacord, Harry Halmes, Hideo Higashi, Pac Crawford, Tommy Cone, Henry Thierly, Harold Benton, Mike Santa Cruz, George Berry, Garth Olsen, Paul Bruce, and associate members, Bill Crawford, Wayne Flynn and Jack Weatherly.

Enjoy Bridge Party

At Country Club

Perhaps because it was the final bridge tea of the season at Santa

Ana Country club, bringing to a close the series of pleasant meetings for women of the club and their friends, yesterday's party at the clubhouse seemed to achieve an unusual success, as guests recalled the past winter, and thought of the summer months during which club entertaining will be foregone in favor of the beach and mountain outings of the informal vacation season.

Mrs. J. LaMont McFadden, Mrs.

Hugh Shields and Mrs. Susan

Rutherford comprised the group of hostesses extending cordial welcome to guests, and establishing a delightfully friendly atmosphere for the party. Tables for the afternoon's contest of skill, and the bridge games continued until 4 o'clock when rich cake and crisp little cookies were served with iced lemonade, chosen as offering more refreshment than the tea which has been served during the cooler months.

Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullen was to receive the lovely little blue

County Lip Reading
Clubs Entertained
In Fullerton

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Plummer of Fullerton opened their lovely hill-top home at 226 Helen drive, to members of the Orange County Lip Reading clubs this week, when over a half hundred members availed themselves of the hospitality so graciously extended. Mrs. Hugh Osborn of this city, as president, introduced Mrs. John Wehrly, vice-president of the Santa Ana branch; Mrs. E. E. Bruns of the Anaheim branch, and Mrs. Mackey of the Fullerton branch. Mrs. Osborn then passed for the inspection and administration of the assembled clubs, the handsome silver cup which she won recently in Los Angeles, as the best lip reader of this locality.

The by-laws and constitution of the Orange County league for Hard of Hearing were read and adopted, and the objects of this league were cited as follows: To provide a means of social intercourse for the members; to promote rehabilitation of the deafened; to endeavor to improve the condition of those deaf persons for whom nothing is done, especially children.

After the business session each member was given some little token which represented the name of a flower, and there was a general guessing of the flowers so represented. Some of these were especially clever, and in the cases of mountain flowers, were difficult to guess. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served before the enjoyable evening came to a close.

OTTAVAR SEVCIK

By RUTH ANDREWS

Part II.
Widely recognized as one of the world's most famous violin authorities and pedagogues, Ottavaro Sevcik has been engaged for a half century in his chosen profession, and for several generations past violin virtuosos from many different countries have made pilgrimages to Prague and Vienna to profit from the master's personal instruction and influence.

Abandoning his own dreams of a concert career almost at its beginning, after a period of successful engagements in Moscow, at 23 Sevcik settled in Kiev, Russia, as a violin teacher in the music school of the Imperial Russian Music Society located there. He remained at this institution until his thirtieth year in 1892, when he was recalled to Prague, to teach violin in the historic Prague Conservatory, attended by musicians from far and wide.

During the 14 years that followed, Sevcik's unusual gifts as a teacher and inspiration to youthful genius bore fruit that was heralded throughout two continents. During this period he instructed numerous pupils who later became world-famous, including such internationally known celebrities as Kubelik, Kocan, Zimbalist, Marie Hall, and many others of similar talents. Pupils quickly flocked to the Bohemian center, also joining the cohorts of a summer colony of violinists which Sevcik had founded in the ancient town of Pisek, nestled in the Bohemian hills, on the banks of the River Otava.

Sevcik's pupils of that day were never allowed to remain idle during the summer months, but gathered in the little mountain resort, they would pass "vacation" periods in intensive study, with eight hours of daily practice, broken occasionally by walking trips and excursions to the neighboring Bohemian hills, with their crumbling castles and picturesque retreats. Sevcik always headed these cross-country trips, and throughout his long, useful life this same spirit of fellowship which has always existed between him and so many hundreds of his pupils has remained his greatest joy.

In 1909, when Sevcik was 47, he was appointed to the position of director of the Imperial Royal Academy of Music in Vienna, a post of great responsibility. Sevcik directed master classes in this institution for years, closely associated with such renowned musicians as Leopold Godowsky, Carl Goldmark and others of similar brilliance, whom the Academy faculty then hosted.

Students again gathered from all parts of the world, and during the years from 1909-14, Sevcik's classes included such gifted violinists as Erika Morini, Zlatko Balakovic, Sascha Culbertson and others, so that a student colony that would have been difficult to duplicate flourished there under the master's guidance until the outbreak of the World War in July, 1914, which brought cessation of artistic activities.

Following the turmoil of the war, and the havoc which it wrought upon Viennese student-life, Sevcik returned to Prague, to direct the old conservatory where he had received his own early training. He resumed his classes there, also in the quiet environs of sheltered Pisek, also completing his exhaustive work on violin technique, one of his most important life achievements, and an invaluable contribution to violin literature, which he had been engaged in writing over a period of 30 years.

During the past several years Sevcik has made three visits to the United States, to hold master classes that have had wide popularity. Although 80 years of age, he is now spending his fourth season in Boston and New York, teaching with the same energy and conscientiousness which have made his life so valuable for more than half a century, and which will endear his memory to his innumerable pupils in all parts of the world for years to come.

S. A. Philharmonic Orchestra Concert

The Santa Ana Philharmonic orchestra of 60 members, regarded as one of the city's outstanding music organizations, will be heard in a spring concert on Thursday evening, June 2, that will conclude the current season. The orchestra will be conducted by D. C. Clamfoni, and plans to offer its concert program in the high school auditorium. Tickets have been priced at low rates in order that the event may be within reach of every music lover in the city.

Two special features will include the appearance of Rose Dirmann, celebrated soprano soloist, who has to her credit numerous triumphs in Los Angeles this season, where she has appeared as soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, conducted by Dr. Arthur Rodzinski, as well as in various concert and radio programs.

Miss Dirmann, whose beauty of voice and rare artistry have won for her the enviable favor of critics throughout the country, plans to sing the famous aria "Face, Face, Mio Dio" from Verdi's opera, "La Forza del Destino," also the aria "Nobles Signores" from Meyerbeer's "Les Huguenots" at her appearance with the local orchestra.

Another special solo feature will be the appearance of the local pianist, Everard Stovall, artist-pupil of Earl Fraser, in the first movement from Saint Saens' G Minor Concerto.

According to Director Clamfoni, symphonic selections to be programmed by the orchestra on this program will include the famous "Leonore" overture of Beethoven, Rimsky Korsakoff's brilliantly colorful "Capriccio Espagnole," the Nordic masterpiece "Finlandia" by Sibelius, and a favorite Strauss waltz in conclusion.

and possibly Rosa Ponselle, will head the list of principals who will appear on the coast through Merola's efforts, with lesser roles to be filled from the ranks of Western singers.

It is expected that such internationally famous celebrities as Lily Pons, Giacomo Lauri-Volpi, Mario Chamlee, Lawrence Tibbett,

He recently participated in a performance of his song-cycle "White Enchantment" during the Alabama convention of Federated Music Clubs held in Birmingham.

Cadman's works have been performed extensively this season both in America and abroad, in such contrasting centers as Florence, Italy, and Honolulu. His many popular operettas have had 46 performances this past season.

Ann Arbor Annual Festival
The thirty-ninth annual Ann Arbor Music Festival has been staged in elaborate fashion this past week, May 18-21. The festival has comprised six important concert events, with Gustav Holst, distinguished British composer-conductor who came to America several years ago for special guest appearances at a previous Ann Arbor May Festival, again acting as guest conductor. Holst presented the American premiere of his own recently written Choral Fantasia, the words of which were written by Robert Bridges, late poet-laureate of Great Britain. Frederick Stock also conducted the Chicago Symphony orchestra during the Festival, while other special musical features included the American premiere of a Rimsky-Korsakoff opera, also Stravinsky's "Palmes" and Haydn's classic oratorio, "The Creation." Soloists during the event, which was visited by musicians from all over the country, included such noted celebrities as Goeta Ljungberg, Juliette Jagel, Beniamino Gigli, Frederick Lappe, and John Charles Thomas, as well as many others of similar fame.

Paderewski's Summer Plans
Paderewski, celebrated Polish pianist, will conclude his concert engagements in this country this month. He plans to spend most of the summer at his home in Morio, Switzerland, returning to America for his third successive season since resuming concert activities, during February, 1933.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL
There's a Right Way to Cook Chops

I saw some thin loin pork chops this morning, offered for the proverbial song. I thought how good they would be cooked the right way, and that is NOT frying them.

I would put those little chops (2 to a serving) in a covered iron skillet and slightly brown them. Then, on each chop I would place a teaspoonful of washed raw rice. Over the rice would go a big onion, finely chopped; salt, pepper, a speck of sage, and for moisture, a can of cream of tomato soup mixed with twice its bulk in water, would be carefully poured around the chops. Covered tightly, and baked slowly for two hours, a sum-shum meal is ready to make its bow to the family.

All that baking means fuel and not utilizing the oven to the fullest degree is wasteful. How about a baked vegetable and an open-faced, or deep-dish, rhubarb pie? For that vegetable shell enough green peas to serve the family. Line a covered casserole with the coarse outside leaves of a head of lettuce, lapping them well to make a thick lining. Put in the peas, season, add 1/4 cup hot water and a generous piece of butter. Cover tightly and bake about 40 minutes.

A simple salad would be best. Just shred the head of lettuce, chill it in ice water, then shake dry and arrange on salad plates. To 1/2 cup of mayonnaise add 1/2 cup of creamy cottage cheese, mix well, add a little lemon juice, paprika, salt and cayenne. Pour generously over the lettuce.

5 almond macaroons, toasted
3 tablespoons ground almonds

Naturally, a dessert like this is made only for Feast Days and High Occasions, but it is a dessert to look forward to if you can afford the richness of the contents, rather I should say it's fat calories.

First, let's make the custard and cool it; heat the milk in a double boiler, whip egg yolks with sugar and stir into the hot milk. Keep stirring until the custard coats the spoon like thick cream, then cool quickly.

Boiled custard if cooked over low fire. Watch texture on the spoon. Drain the syrup off the maraschino cherries, crush the blanched almonds and soak them in the syrup. Crush the toasted macaroons and prepare the other fruits.

The last step is to whip egg whites stiff, and frapped milk also, add the white egg whites and beat lightly, then quickly fold in the fruits and nuts, macaroons, with the whipped milk last of all, put immediately into the freezing pans, do not stir, and freeze 4 hours.

This quantity of dessert will make 12 generous servings. Each one will be worth a trifle over 325 energy calories.

BOOK REVIEWS

By MARY BURKE KING

Old Wine and New by Warwick Deeping, published by Alfred A. Knopf.
Many young people should read Somerset Maugham's "The Breadwinner" and "Old Wine and New." In the former the young people, at least the young men, couldn't possibly understand that they, the young people who found themselves so tremendously interesting, could really be dull and boring and crude to older people. "Old Wine and New" is enlightening along that line. There is a charming young girl, hard, without dreams and illusions, quite selfish, incapable of appreciating certain depths of heart-hunger and ideals which the older woman in the story could appreciate.

Spencer Scarsdale, returning from the war to England expected of course to find things as he left them. Instead he finds things in the hands of a young generation with new ideals, if any, with ruthless ambition, with a burning sense of the failures of the elders. It is an impressive story, this story of Spencer Scarsdale's adjustment to what he found at home. There were young and Eleanor who were so friendly for him the change. Spencer saw it all clearly enough before the end of the book and from his place in the out-moded generation he saw it all clearly, as a genius would and became an instrument of revelation.

"Fool Proof" Partnership Bidding Contract Bridge by Robert M. Brannon.

More than two years ago a writer in Harper's Magazine cited the fact that during periods of "hard times," when the rank and file of people begin to pinch their pocket-books for the wherewithal for necessities, and when unemployment is rampant, some cheap pastime has always achieved popularity. The author of the article gave a number of examples for the argument. But then he said in the present period, which was at that time just beginning, miniature golf was the game. It was rather ironical for at the time the article arrived miniature golf which reached the peak of its popularity right here in California was already in the height of the wave. It seems that the writer's argument may have been quite correct up to a point, and that point was his selection of the inexpensive pastime to tide us over a trying period. It is bridge that is doing the trick—Contract bridge. Wherever there are four people there is the means of passing several pleasant hours. And to more than one man the juggling of bridge hands quite by himself is a substitute for the former juggling of sums running into sums of six digits.

"Fool Proof" is written in a light style by a human being, not a bridge "fiend." Albert the author says in the beginning: "I confess that my interest in Contract Bridge is chiefly academic. It is the intellectual phases of the game that the writer is particularly interested in. It makes the strongest appeal to me."

The straightforward, clear attack of the author will be particularly appreciated in this book. Simplicity is invaluable. And if you think it is not right to characterize us as a nation of nervous people just read this authoritative list of particularly annoying breaches of etiquette at the bridge table. They are such little things but how all the rest of us who are not guilty of doing them do hate them. Nerves around the contract table are jumpy, most of them. Contract is revealing.

If a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing well goes the old maxim. It isn't true, but then it does seem to apply to Contract. Since it involves other people, if one is going to do it at all one should do as well as one can and if one doesn't do well enough with that maximum effort it is up to the friends to leave one at home.

The Theatre, from Athens to Broadway by Thomas Wood Stevens.

It is almost too good to be true: a history of the theatre in two hundred and fifty pages. It follows that it has its limitations. It is very much condensed and it must be read with concentration. Being so compressed much of the beloved romance of the theatre has been left out but augmenting the book with the plays of the various periods is really important stuff of the theatre can be made fascinating. One has a feeling of inadequacy after finishing a book in which one has rushed through Moliere, Shakespeare, Ibsen, the theatre in China, India, Japan, Germany and Russia in a few hours. But the fault is with our own age and manner of gaining our impressions, not with the author. He is capable of giving us volumes on the subject he has condensed into one short one. It is our own fault that we are overjoyed with a history so compressed that it does well to "hit the high places."

Three Loves by A. J. Cronin, published by Little, Brown & Company.
"Three Loves," like the author's first novel, "Hatter's Castle," is a departure from the prevailing style in fiction writing which has been staccato and theatrical—meaning by that that the character delineation, and description of background and events have been accomplished with a sketchiness of detail and by a means of suggestion. A phrase has served the bulk of the modern writers to explain a very great deal. Whether or not the impressions made by this means have been as reliable, as good, as by the older method of painstakingly writing five hundred pages and more in the telling of a tale is a question. Certainly the briefer manner of telling has fit the times. Now, however, we are coming to care less for a hectic whirl, with impressions fixed, if fixed at all, by a hastily made scratch.

Dr. Cronin is one of those who presents his art through the revised method. "Hatter's Castle," "Judith Paris," "Broome Stages" and "Three Loves" are in the class with many other recent long novels. Before reading such books we want to be as sure as possible that we will find them worth our while. For while we are reading there is "The Epic of America," and "The Progress in America," by Ludwig Leisner, and "The Life of Emerson" and Dr. Glenn Frank's "Thunder and Dawn," awaiting our leisure. Weighed in the balance with books of the substance of those one considers carefully before taking the plunge into a six hundred page novel.

"Three Loves" isn't a book one finds particularly enjoyable. Lucy Moore, the central figure is rather a fool, and the average reader is most impatient of fools. Her three loves were first of all her husband Frank, second her son Peter, and third religion. She failed in her connection with all three. Lucy was perceptive. People who act as impulsively as Lucy acted about really have a little brain. Her impulses would thus be better balanced. If her mind hadn't acted as a dynamo to her impulses she might have gotten along all right. And she would have been saved from her impulses if she had had greater addition to reflection. In other words more brains or less brains would have saved her from herself. Then too she was a man-aging sort of person—and factious. But Lucy is real and therein lies the merit of the novel. Possibly she is the superlative of the Lucy's we all may have known, and we have known some, yet she is real enough.

Which brings us up to the question why we should read a long book about a unlikable woman. Mr. Lewis Browne says that until we can do face up and study real life we will not progress. It applies to society, it applies to the individual. Maybe there are some of the Lucy qualities in us, or in our children. Dr. Cronin is being hailed by some critics as another Hardy. "Hatter's Castle" was melodramatic. "James Briddle" was an exaggerated villain. He didn't have one redeeming feature—and that is not real. The book lacked perfection of technique. "Three Loves" moves more smoothly, the pictures are more delicately drawn. There is greater evidence of real craftsmanship. Lucy is a foolish woman yet the author arouses our sympathy for her and that is a real achievement.

EL MODENA, May 21.—The El Modena Missionary society will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. L. R. Jones in Villa Park. The Rev. and Mrs. Cobos, who have charge of the Mexican work at Whittier, will be the speakers.

Hollywood Bowl Concert Season To Open July 5

After some question as to whether the season, Hollywood Bowl's eleventh annual season of summer "Symphonies under the stars" will open on July 5, and will continue for eight weeks, according to an announcement by Glen Tindall, bowl manager. Thirty-two concerts are scheduled to be given as in previous years, with concert nights to be on Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week during the series. There are to be 15 nights on which solo artists or ballet attractions will appear.

Every effort will be made to make the coming season one of the most noteworthy musically in the history of Bowl activities. It is reported. Thousands of visitors to the Olympic Games will undoubtedly also make a pilgrimage to Hollywood's internationally famed Bowl. Many interesting musical novelties are accordingly being planned for presentation during the Olympiad.

Definite engagements already been made with three world-famous orchestral conductors—Sir Hamilton Harty of the Halle Orchestra, Manchester, England, who was heard in connection with Bowl concerts for the first time last season; Frederick Stock, of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and Bernardino Molinari, of Rome, also a prime favorite with Bowl patrons. Negotiations are also under way for the appearances of other conductors and of noted solo artists.

A campaign is being opened to sell $50,000 in ticket books before the opening of the summer series. These books will sell for $10 each, and will contain 40 admissions. Tickets bought in this form make the admissions 25 cents, or half the single ticket price.

Total attendance at the Bowl concerts last season was nearly 50,000 larger than in 1930.

Etchings Exhibited On Olvera Street

Blanding Sloan, nationally known etcher and producer of Col. Charles Eskine Scott Wood's "Heavenly Discourse," now playing at the Plaza Art Center in Olvera street, is holding there an exhibition of 100 etchings and monotypes, the latter never before shown in a public exhibition. Disproving the belief that European training is indispensable to inspiration for creative work, Sloan has long since been acclaimed as an original creative artist working with equal excellence in many media and deserving the appellation "modern." Born in Corsicana, Texas, Sloan studied at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts where he later became an instructor. Then followed years of professional Broadway theater experience with New York stage producers as designer of costumes, stage sets and lighting effects. From his earliest years he has been a creator of prints which have been exhibited in one-man shows by some seventy of this country's leading museums, including the Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco and the Los Angeles Museum at Exposition Park. Quite recently Pomona college purchased a series of Sloan's California Ghost Town etchings which are authentic studies of those old historic landmarks.

OLD SPANISH LIGHTHOUSE

By Bessie Pryor Palmer

Fair Loma holds you with a loving arm
Who, in your youth flashed friendly, searching eyes
Afar for bold ships venturing coastwise
Endangered by a secret, lurking harm.
As once Odysseus lingered when the charm
Was on him, idly your rough frame lies
While winters pass and summer dawns and dies,
No longer needful for the seas' alarm.
Like an old warrior basking in the sun
You dream on daring decades long ago
Less lonely than these crowded days you know,
Till scars become not hurts but honors won.
Kind Loma mocks not your lost usefulness,
Knowing the heart of romance you possess.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

When once the Tinties reached outdoors they heard more of the play man's snores. "He sure was tired," said Scouty. "We had best leave him alone."

"He says there's nothing more to see around this place. It seems to me that we'd best move along again and travel on our own."

"I guess you're right," said Windy. "I just wish I had a chance to fly around up in the air again, but, shucks, I have no plane."

"The one he let me use before is gone, so it is here no more. Aw, what's the use of wishing, when the wishing's all in vain?"

They sat down on the ground a while. Then Copy jumped up with a smile. "We're funny little fellows," he exclaimed. "Here we all sit!"

"Why not start rolling o'er the land? The road is nice; the weather grand. I feel that I could walk for miles, 'cause I'm not tired a bit."

Then Duncy opened up his eyes and snapped. "Say, do you realize that maybe someone else is tired? I want to take a snooze."

"We have no special place in mind to go, where strange things we might find. I think it's best to loaf right here. We've lots of time to lose."

The others, in real teasing tones, cried, "Listen to old lazy bones. This time you cannot have your wish. A new spot we will find."

Then up they jumped, to start their hike. "Come on," said Scouty, "if you like." It wasn't very long till Duncy trailed along behind.

All of a sudden they all spied a funny suit man. Windy cried, "Hello, there, tall, slim fellow. Tell us, where are you bound for?"

"Oh, don't mind me," the still man said, "but just keep walking straight ahead. You'll shortly reach a house where there are thrilling things in store."

(The Tinties arrive at a strange house in the next story.)

Need of Mental Hygiene Cited in School Talk

NEWPORT HEIGHTS, May 21.—Norman Fenton, professor of education at U. S. C. and director of the California bureau of juvenile research, was the speaker at the sixth parental class lecture at the Newport Harbor union high school Thursday morning, with 57 mothers in attendance.

Dr. Fenton, in speaking on "Mental Hygiene" relative to juvenile delinquency, stated that many delinquents need to go to a hospital rather than to an institution of correction. Mental hygiene is the need of the time and the solution of crime is not in building institutions but in preventive work and getting at the cause, for $1000 spent in prevention is worth a million in brick and mortar, he said. A small fund is now being used for clinical guidance, particularly in the outlying districts of Los Angeles, to keep delinquents out of state institutions, to help the communities and save the boys and girls to society and future unhappiness and stigma. Dr. Fenton said.

"The main question and solution of the problem of crime is to find out 'Why did the child do it?' for children prefer to be good," Dr. Fenton said. "Home life often is at the root of the trouble, and parents new correction. Children are often more sinned against than sinning."

"Fears, tempo tantrums and over emotionalism of early childhood are heavy contributors. Spanking is a satisfaction to the parent, but of little value to the child, there is a cause prior to the need of spanking."

SENATE TAKES RECESS AFTER TAX BATTLES

With the tariff coalition definitely in the saddle, Senate leaders looked for comparatively clear going for the $2,000,000,000 (B) tax bill.

A 2-day deadlock on tariffs was broken last night when the Senate adopted import duties on oil and coal by roll calls of 43 to 37 and 38 to 34. The Senate was ready to go ahead with the lumber, copper and rubber tariffs. These were expected to win, as the various tariff-seeking groups have agreed to support each other's items.

The tariff victory was accomplished at the expense of extremely bitter discussion among Democrats. It virtually eliminated the tariff as a party campaign issue. Eighteen Democrats deserted their party's traditional free trade policy and voted for the oil tariff. Twenty Democrats opposed it.

Republican leaders predicted the tax bill could be sent to conference with the House next Thursday. They regarded that as the deadline for passage, if Congress is to adjourn before the national convention.

Creator of 'Secret Punch' Aids Jack

with my secret punch, I will offer to substitute for him against Schmeling. Just wait until this afternoon when I get in there with him."

Came the afternoon, and also two or three hundred fans to watch Sharkey work out. But Sharkey was out on a fishing trip and didn't show up. After waiting an hour or two, the filbert could stand it no longer. Mr. Ghenuely Accepts "One of you guys," he said to the fighters on the floor, "get into the ring with me. I just gotta get a workout out of my system."

With these words he slipped off his hiking boots, and barefooted, stepped into the ring. His challenge was accepted by Joe Ghenuely, a 135-pounder from St. Louis.

"Watch yourself," the stranger said to Ghenuely. "I don't want to hurt you. And be sure to watch out for my secret punch. It's a man-killer."

There were just two licks struck. Ghenuely struck the filbert, who didn't know a left cross from third base, and the filbert struck the floor. It required 20 minutes to revive him. The second and his head cleared, the filbert grabbed his shoes, reached the highway in nothing flat, and headed for somewhere else.

U. S. CHAMBERS OPPOSE BONUS FOR VETERANS

While it urged "generous provision for all those who suffered disabilities because of their war service," the chamber took a firm stand against "provisions... under which men suffering no disabilities from war service are recipients of... many million dollars annually."

The federal prevailing wage law was attacked as "Inconsistent." The chamber asked that it be not extended.

Adjustment of federal anti-trust laws to permit "stabilization of industries" was asked as was "consolidation of railroads with all possible speed."

A resolution on silver called for an international conference in an attempt to stabilize the metal.

Maintenance of the merchant marine act of 1928 was urged and the government admonished to "refrain from operating competing services."

Competing forms of transportation should be regulated, the chamber declared in another resolution.

Operation of free employment agencies was described as "a proper function for state and municipal governments."

The federal government, the chamber said, should merely coordinate them and provide them with interstate clearance.

ANTINEPOTISM BILL HEARINGS WILL BE HELD

measure is not expected to reach a vote.

However, the bill has been vigorously supported in numerous letters from constituents. Some believe that eventually Congress will be forced to follow the example of numerous states and abolish employment of relatives.

The civil service act forbids employment of more than two of one family in the executive departments, yet a number of congressmen were disclosed to be carrying two others of their family on the payrolls as their clerks. Inspection of the rolls even fails to disclose the full extent of the family payroll racket because of the many "in-laws" whose dissimilar names do not reveal them.

The April payrolls shows a heavy shrinkage in the number of Congressmen who placed relatives on their clerk hire rolls. The Kansas delegation, for instance, shows only Rep. Sparks, Republican, with a son on. His daughter-in-law also has been employed. Yet Rep. Lambertson, Republican, who has no relatives showing now, formerly had his wife and daughter on his list. Rep. McGugin, Republican, dropped his wife within the last year. Rep. Strong, Republican, had a son-in-law on as a committee clerk.

Of the Nebraska delegation, only two, Rep. Howard, Democrat, and Rep. Shallenberger, Republican, show with relatives. Last June, however, Rep. Morehead was employing an "M. Morehead"—Mrs. Morehead's given name being Minnie. She has been dropped since then.

The list of Congressmen whose employee-relatives bear the family name still totals about 100, despite the reductions that have taken place recently. A large number of "in-laws" can be detected only through personal inquiry and private information.

The House payroll was officially made public by unanimous adoption of a resolution by Chairman Warren of the accounts committee. He sought this action when a fellow Congressman, Rep. Mitchell, attempted to see the House records and was refused permission by the clerk of the House, who said it would be "unethical" to show them.

Inspection of the original records also disclosed that when the lists were published in the past, after they had been obsolete for six months, the names of Congressmen had been carefully deleted from the list of employees so that it was impossible except by individual inquiry to ascertain by whom clerks were employed.

CURTIS PLANS COURT BATTLE OVER ARREST

publicity received urged him on with the resultant fabricated stories, and that finally a confession resulted through fear of reprisals by racketeers with whom he first dealt, if he "squealed" on them.

Colonel H. Norman Schwartzkopf has declared Curtis innocent of any part in the kidnapping, and in the extortion plot which extracted $50,000 in cash from Dr. John F. (Jafie) Condon.

However, police have not abandoned investigation of his activity and his story also they would not quarrel with Dean H. Eobson-Peck in the latter's refusal to come here for questioning, even with expenses paid. The dean prefers to be questioned in Norfolk.

Colonel Lindbergh himself, who refused to file charges against Curtis, has not indicated what prosecution, if any, he may desire. Schwarzkopf announced last night. Lindbergh did say he would not interfere with police.

Dr. Condon told his story of the payment of $50,000 to opposed kidnappers during the Bronx county grand jury session yesterday. He looked at more rogues gallery pictures, and it was expected he would check still more pictures in New Jersey this week-end.

Financial and Market News

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 21.—(UP)—With trading falling back to the dullness characteristic of recent sessions, the stock market today closed irregular after moving in a narrow range throughout the short session.

At today's finish, the list was not far from the levels at the close a week ago, one day of decline being offset by four days of small advances.

There was little in the news to affect the list. Outlook was brighter for business pickup on what the reserve banks were to take an active part in furnishing credit to industry.

Meanwhile, traders were reluctant about making commitments pending further information of the methods whereby the credit would be extended. Shorts were especially reticent and this brought a practical deadlock with tickers barely moving.

Shares of oil companies operating in the east were affected adversely by the gasoline price war which broke out in the Midwest. The common shares selling gasoline here cut their prices to 9 1/2 cents a gallon, not including taxes, a decline of more than a cent a gallon from the recently prevailing prices.

Steel common managed to retain a slight throughout most of the session and small advances were noted in several other leaders of various groups, including General Electric, Auburn, Low's and American Can. Marine Midland and Montgomery Ward were depressed fractionally to new lows.

A WORD ABOUT CONGRESS

There is a great deal of fault found by the thoughtless with Congress. The general wholesale criticism and blanket repudiation of Congress, indicates either one of two things, as a rule, ignorance of the facts or a union with those forces that have been unable to control our national body.

As we look back over the years, and notice the crookedness and corruption in public life, connected with the oil scandals, and those that are quasi-public, the unloading of millions of dollars of worthless securities on the public, which at times were aided by certain public officials, we search in vain for any link that connects Congress with such shameful and disgraceful matters.

The truth is, it is one or the other body in Congress, in every case, that has uncovered rascality, and has fought for a correction of the evil. And strange to say, these Congressmen and Senators who endeavor to correct these evils, in the interest of the people as a whole, have to fight the forces, high and low, that try to bring these Congressmen into ridicule and arouse opposition against them.

We are now far into the third year of our depression. At the opening of the present session, Congress, with a unanimity which was patriotic and loyal, passed quickly the measures which our Chief Executive declared would tend to bring prosperity back. To be sure, nothing specifically had been done to help prior to the meeting of Congress.

The President took three positions—one was that more credit and finance were needed in our big banking institutions, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was the result. Another was that there was other paper that needed discounting at our Federal Reserve banks to extend our credit, and this amendment to the Federal Reserve Act was promptly passed. The third position in regard to the unemployed and the needy, was that the Federal government should not furnish help, but that it should be done through voluntary contributions, and a committee was formed to that end.

Congress has been faithful to these three projects. It passed the two the President asked for, and while it endeavored to supply funds for the needy, this was vetoed by the President, and was not passed over his veto. To be sure, conditions have not grown very much better, if any. They have been a little easier from the standpoint of credit, but not from the standpoint of business.

There has been misrepresentation of Congress, and Congress has been falsely charged. The truth is that public news dispatches would make it appear that Congress had not saved money, but Congress has saved $800,000,000, when they were only requested to save $700,000,000. This we are declaring on the authority of a very thorough survey that was made by a representative of a New York paper as to the actual facts.

One important proposition remains, from the President's point of view, and that is the finance bill for the balancing of the budget. As to how this budget should be met, or as to whether it should be met, might be a matter of serious difference.

The Congressmen are representing the people. They are close to the people. And the opposition to the Congressmen comes primarily from those who cannot force all of the Congressmen to do the will of certain interests in Wall Street and elsewhere.

Not being able to designate and analyze, they try to give a blanket repudiation, by saying the Congressmen lack backbone. The real thing that disturbs these critics is that the Congressmen and Senators, to whom they are opposed, have too much backbone. We are afraid that this country will not be saved from the mess it is in by the men who produced the mess, led us into the mess, and insist that we must do nothing to get ourselves out, and those men are not the Congressmen.

It is quite a striking thing, in relation to this whole matter, that the people recognize their advocates, and in spite of all of these forces, that organize in every conceivable way to defeat them, and destroy their influence and power, these men are re-elected by the people with increasing influence in every locality where their acts are known.

GRATITUDE DUE MANY LANDLORDS

Commendation is due many of the landlords in this city, and undoubtedly the same holds true of the landlords throughout the country.

In this time of stress, many people have been delayed in payment of rent. Some of them have not been able to pay for several months, and others have had to have their rents adjusted.

This has been true of business men, whose ability to do and to continue, has been dependent upon a reduction in their rental. Upon every side we have heard of the fine things landlords have done. In many cases the owners of buildings have been wonderfully patient, until their own situation has actually forced them into difficulties.

We want to commend these men. There is more heart among them than is usually assumed, or that is in accord with the proverbial landlord. They are very few who have not re-adjusted their rentals in harmony with business conditions. Many have done this, even in face of enforceable contracts. They have recognized that this has been an unusual situation, which requires unusual remedies, and justice would demand adjustments and changes to harmonize with these changing conditions.

We want to say to these owners, who have been patient, been just, and been fair, that those whom they have so helped appreciate it. It has helped the community; it has helped the county. And while in some cases it has jeopardized the owners themselves, we know that there must be a certain satisfaction enjoyed by men who so conduct their business, and there is a reward that far exceeds money consideration.

A RAY OF LIGHT

There seems to be some real hope for the proposed program of the appropriation of money for Federal construction projects, on which millions of men may be put to work. We hope that Congress will not adjourn until such a program is put into operation.

Whatever may be said of the necessities of expansion of credit or stabilizing business, certainly the one thing needful for the pushing of business on the upward grade, in no uncertain way, is for the purchasing power of the multitude to be developed and increased. This can only be done with them being put to work at fair wages. And the only power that seems to be able to start this is the government itself.

Society as a combined unit may do it. Individuals and industrial corporations hesitate to do it without receiving orders for their goods, and it is entirely possible that if it could start at once, they would have such orders.

The government can cut this knot through such operations, as are suggested by Senator Robinson's plan.

Singing in the Suds

Christian Science Monitor

Singing in the bathtub has been a subject for song and story—yes, and for investigation by psychiatrists. This fact is not to be wondered at. For who is there without a genuine personal concern in the matter? One may never have tried to mix the oil of tuneless gladness with the gratefully warm water of the morning tub. But he is in a small minority indeed who has not muttered at least the sentiment of Shelley's "Bird thou never wert," outside a bathroom door.

Either from the outside or the inside, most people have a very active interest in the bathroom ballad. So whenever someone attempts to penetrate the subtle relationship between soap and symphonies, a large and not inexperienced audience awaits his pronouncements. Now comes Dr. Vern O. Knudsen, associate professor of physics at the University of California, with the opinion that the acoustical properties of bathrooms are responsible for much community entertainment.

The question is not to be lightly dismissed. It is one not only of aesthetic, but of ethical and economical application as well. From the point of view of ethics it might be asked should not a bather consider it a duty not only to lift the bathroom ceiling, but also to let his listeners know that on certain nights he will render all-request programs—requests for songs he it understood, to receive preference over those for silence. From the standpoint of economics it would seem advisable for someone experienced in research to determine whether or not a certain Chicago alderman was correct in asserting that singing prolongs the bath and wastes water.

Meanwhile it may be expected that every morn and every evening will be heard throughout the land the mighty chorus of soaking songsters. For if physicists can find no reason why a bathtub ballad should stop, it is almost certain that the vocalizers will not be discouraged by the doubtfulness of reasons for continuing. Song, they will say, is of the heart rather than of the head. No doubt many of them secretly feel that if Mendelssohn was accorded fame for his Songs Without Words they should at least be forgiven for their songs without reason.

The King of England works harder than many of his subjects, a cable from London says. And, it might have added, he gets better pay.

Metropolitan Centers Hold Half of Nation's Population

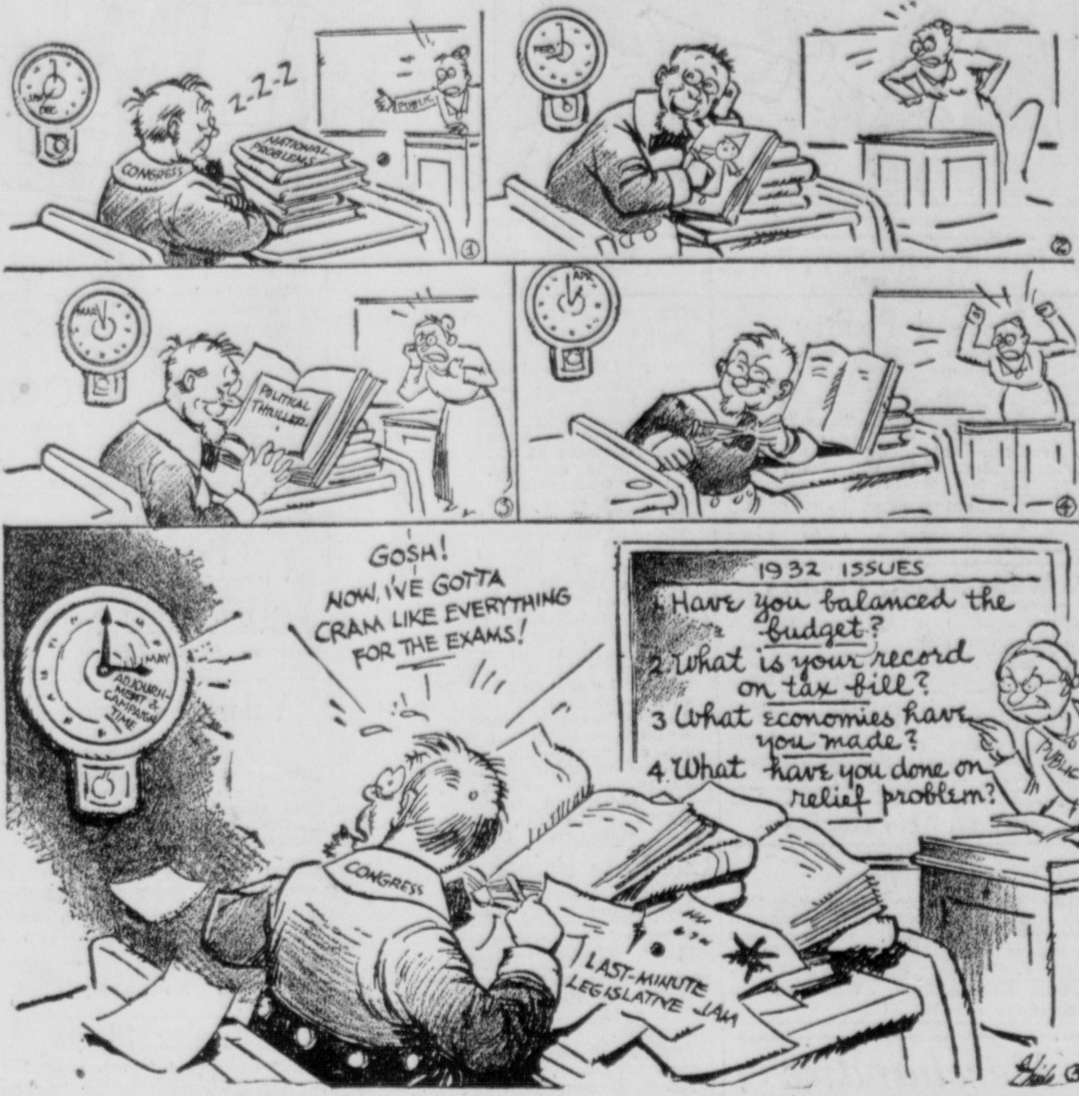

Riverside Enterprise

Cities are now measured not by their corporate limits but by the natural spread of their population. For nearly all practical purposes, especially for business and industry, the fringes are included, even when those fringes have a separate corporate organization. Suburbs develop easily and quickly with modern transportation. Thus the "metropolitan community" is the unit. Every city of importance, large or small, becomes a metropolis, the mother-city of its own business and social area.

The ten largest cities of the United States, regarded in this way, the Census Bureau finds, contain one-fourth of the country's population. There are 96 metropolitan districts, each having more than 100,000 people, making a total of more than 50,000,000. Thus nearly half of the nation is now metropolitan, even by this strict standard.

If communities of 50,000 or even 25,000 are considered in this light, as they well might be, the metropolitan population is far more than half, possibly three-fourths.

More Truth Than Poetry

TO A MOSQUITO

You are feeble and puny and fragile,
You would look like a dwarf to a bee;
The laziest ant is more agile,
You could not win a race with a flea.
If the half of a trice you should linger
When you settle yourself on my head,
The tiniest tap of a finger
Would stretch you out dead.

Though your temper is savage and stormy
Your weight is far less than a grain,
And the pages of science inform me
You have scarcely the trace of a brain.
But you swarm in a myriad number
When the shades of the midnight grow deep
My once restful couch to encumber
And keep me from sleep.

Men have fought you for ages and ages
But have always gone down to defeat,
The world's most illustrious sages
Have never outsmarted a "skeet."
You are small, but you're frightfully clever
And I feel it is safe to predict
That the forces of science will never
Have all of you licked.

If I were as tiny as you are
Yet possessed your malevolent art,
Although born in a swamp or a sewer
I should think I was frightfully smart.
You may be the child of an hour,
A quite insignificant thing,
Yet you wield a malevolent power;
No wonder you sing.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Still, it's hard to cuss the shorts when you think of Senator Long.

The Sunday morning collection indicates that the building of mansions in the skies is cheaper now, too.

Usually you can estimate a man's authority by the relative idiosyncrasy of his plan to save the country.

The demand for equality never means: "Help me to climb." It means "Pull that guy down."

CHARITY: GIVING AWAY YOUR OLD $60 SUIT, STILL AS GOOD AS EVER, AND BUYING A HATEFUL NEW OUTFIT AT $24.95.

The boys may yet make the world safe for democracy. Democracy thrives when everybody is equally poor.

First provide jobs for everybody. Then jail every man whose only visible means of support is his trigger finger.

If they do tax rubber 5 cents a pound, the poor buyer will think it means 5 cents on the pound of air pressure.

AMERICANISM: Boasting of the equal opportunity given to all; demanding punishment of those who win.

Courtesy to candidates makes liars of us all. The country has about reached bottom if prosperity can't return until Wall Street finds a new crop of suckers.

They say modern children learn to walk earlier. You see, they can now cling to mother's skirts until tall enough to reach her hand.

SMOKING LESS MAY REST YOUR NERVES, BUT IT DOESN'T WORK IN THE CASE OF FACTORY CHIMNEYS.

How smart Americans are! They know that publicity makes anything important, so they give the depression a lot of it. The final proof of democracy's worth is the way Americans stand in line awaiting their fair turn.

Alas! You can't tell by the way a candidate quotes Washington and Lincoln which party he is boosting. One way to curb the evils of the Stock Market would be to provide Americans some other way to gratify their desire to bet.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "MY DESIRE," SAID THE RED, "IS TO LIFT UP THE POOR—NOT TO PULL DOWN THE RICH."

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

FREEDOM AND RESPONSIBILITY

Deep down under the current discussions of political and economic solutions for our vexed and vexing depression problems is the age-old issue of freedom and responsibility.

We are accustomed to meeting this issue whenever freedom of speech is discussed.

There is a kind of advocate of free speech who seemingly declines to admit that freedom of speech involved any responsibility upon the part of the speaker.

The wisest man knows that, as long as men live together in organized society, a line will be, should be, and must be drawn somewhere with respect to the use of freedom.

The status of freedom in any given instance of period depends upon where the line is drawn.

Someone has said, remarking on the long established devotion of the Quakers to freedom, that nevertheless he, an ardent believer in freedom of thought and speech and action, would expect to be ejected from a Quaker meeting if he insisted upon coking his muddy boots on the top of the pew ahead of him and persisted in puffing away at a black and odorous cigar while the Quakers were awaiting the pro-pulsions of the spirit. And this ardent believer in freedom said he could not consider that an infringement of freedom.

We must always expect to have to exercise freedom consistent with the conservation of the test values of our time and society.

This applies particularly to our traditional American doctrine of individualism and laissez faire.

As I have said so many times in these articles, I abhor the thought of having to live under a regime of Communism, and should fight its advance with every power I possess, but it is not fighting Communism simply for individualism and laissez faire and individualism if the growing interdependence of our economic life makes these doctrines, extremely applied, dangerous where once they were productive of a great and glowing period in American development.

If we are to preserve the priceless values that lie at the heart of individualistic freedom we must recognize responsibility for demands of this new phase in our economic life. Copyright, 1932, McClure News'r Syn.

THAT LITTLE WORD

One little word used in the wrong place, in the wrong sense, can make a world of trouble.

Children are inarticulate where their feelings are in question and as they are creatures of feeling for the main part, this means that they are under a severe strain most of the time when they are in association of adults.

School, church, home, are adult in their outlook. The child they are trying to teach is not at all adult. And he is choked by feeling. That is what makes it so hard to help him.

The use of the right word is painfully important. Hit on it and the child is delighted to follow you. His mind unfolds. All the delightful experiences that rise in his spirit when he feels himself understood caress him, lend him ease and power. He is happy, alert and actively growing.

Use the wrong word and instantly, with the speed of lightning, he closes up tight. There is nothing tighter than the mind of a child that has recoiled. It is useless to batter your words against him. You are through for that time. The sooner you turn your attention from the point in view the better. Take up another one and try to make it happier.

If there is one word more than another that frets a child it is the one that implies he considers himself better than others. Children are essentially group minded.

They hate to be told they are trying to be different. Nothing offends a child so as to be told he is high hating his fellows. He closes up. He is resistant. He is angered. When you have made that mistake just keep still. And don't do it again.

Tommy was invited to attend a summer school that a wise woman opened for all children who were to spend the summer at home in the town where she lived. She fitted the school under the advice of the day school principal who thought of the summer school as an extension of the day school. Tommy went for a day and quit.

"I'm not going to that old school any more. Same old books, same old teacher, same old everything. Haven't even a decent hammer in the place."

The teacher called to see why Tommy did not attend classes. "He says he doesn't like it," said his anxious mother. "I wish he did, but he doesn't want to go and I said he needn't if he didn't want to. I must keep my word."

"What's the matter with you, Tommy? You're no better than any other boy in the town. They go. Think you're too good, do you?"

That settled it. Tommy shut his mouth so tight you could hear his jaw creak and Mother sent him out to see if any pears had fallen since morning.

Don't make that mistake. Never attack a child in that personal way and NEVER, if you value your associations with him, NEVER tell him he thinks himself too good. It is fatal.

PARIS BOMBED

On the night of May 21, 1918, German aviators made an air raid on Paris.

Bombs were dropped in all parts of the city, causing 13 deaths and millions in property damage. Railroads north and northeast of Paris were also attacked, but the bombs dropped did slight damage.

Russia was experiencing the horrors of war. On this day cholera broke out in Astrakhan and in the Caspian Sea region. This plague, although stopped after a short period, took a large toll of lives.

The War Department received reports that the first of the U. S. field armies had been organized and was in service in France. The total strength of this army was about 200,000 men.

Sambo was hired out on a railroad gang. At the close of the first shift he was all tired out and sought the boss.

"Mister, yo' sho' yo' all got me down on that payroll?"

"Sure," said the boss. "Here's your name—Sambo Simpson. That right?"

"Yes, suh," replied Sambo. "Ah jus' thought you might have me."

CAN'T DRINK WATER

An Irishman was relating an experience of hardship in the jungle. "Ammunition, food and whiskey had run out," he said. "We were parched with thirst."

"Was there no water?" asked a listener.

"Shure, but it was no time to thing of cleanliness," replied the Irishman.—Tit-Bits.
